Druid Hills

Druid Hills is a late-nineteenth/early-twentieth-century suburb situated between the City of Atlanta, Decatur, and Emory University in the northeast Atlanta metropolitan area. It encompasses approximately 1,300 acres of land and 1,300 properties. The suburb is primarily residential in nature, with a number of churches and schools and a small neighborhood commercial center in addition to houses. There are also several small parks and a golf course in Druid Hills.

The natural terrain in Druid Hills is that of the gently rolling Piedmont countryside with its low hills and dales. The suburban streets are set into this landscape; their alignment and grade follow to a large degree the natural contours of the land. These streets range from broadly curving, divided avenues through long, meandering roads to short, narrow, sharply curving lanes. All the streets are landscaped on either side like parkways. Carefully aligned curbs, smooth lawns, shrubs, and trees border the streets throughout the suburb. In some cases, the streets actually border park space or contain it in medians, and here, streetscape and landscape merge completely. Building lots are laid out along every street in Druid Hills. These lots range in size from several acres to one-half and one-third acre. Although a few lots are square in shape, most are long and narrow, with frontages of 60 feet to 150 feet and depths of 200 feet to nearly 1,000 feet. Front yards are generally landscaped with lawns, shrubs, flowers, and trees in a "natural" manner that, along with the streetsides, creates the appearance of a large public park. Back yards are well removed from the streets and public view, and in many cases have resorted to a natural condition. Houses date from the late 1890s through the 1930s and range from mansions to bungalows. Predominant architectural styles are those of early-twentieth-century eclecticism and revivalism, including Italian Renaissance, Spanish Villa, English Tudor, Jacobean, Georgian, and Federal. Neo-classical designs and bungalows, while not as prevalent, are also well represented. The churches, schools, and commercial buildings in the area partake of similar period styles. Parks are, for the most part, set into the wide median along Ponce de Leon Avenue, the principal divided avenue in Druid Hills. Like front yards and streetsides, they are landscaped in a "natural" manner, but with larger stands of trees, more open space, and fewer shrubs and flowers.

There are several large sections or subdistricts within Druid Hills. These sections reflect generally the historical development of the suburb. One of the largest of these sections, and the first to be developed, stretches across the southern end of the district along either side of Ponce de Leon Avenue from Briarcliff Road on the west to the Seaboard Coast Line railroad on the east. Ponce de Leon Avenue is a divided parkway containing a succession of parks within its median. Ponce de Leon Avenue is bordered by the largest lots (ranging from one to seven acres) and the grandest mansions in the suburb. Some of the mansions have been converted into churches, schools, and other institutions; a few are abandoned. Several estates have been recently subdivided and developed with low-rise apartment buildings or brick ranch houses. It is essentially this part of Druid Hills that was previously entered on the National Register [see note below]. The second part of Druid Hills to be developed, and the central section of the suburb, lies between Ponce de Leon Avenue on the south, North Decatur Road on the north, Briarcliff Road on the west, and Lullwater Road on the east. This section of Druid Hills features long, parallel streets, moderately-sized lots (one to two acres) with long, narrow dimensions, and moderately-sized period houses. Two tracts of land within this section have been recently subdivided and developed with brick ranch houses. There are numerous intrusions, including ranch houses and low-rise apartment buildings, along the east side of Briarcliff Road. North of North Decatur Road is one of the last sections of Druid Hills to be developed. In this part of the suburb, the streets are laid out in a highly irregular plan. The smallest lots (one-half to one-third acre) in the suburb are located here, as are the most modest period houses. The few intrusions are mostly brick ranch houses. Similar to this part of Druid Hills is a contemporary development along East Lake and Ridgecrest Roads in the extreme southeast corner of the suburb. The final residential section of Druid Hills is located along Clifton Road in the northeast part of the suburb. This section is a compromise in terms of layout, sites, and houses between the central and northern sections. An unusual aspect of this section is the circular street pattern formed by Clifton and East Clifton Roads. A small commercial center, consisting of 1920s-period row shops, is located in the northern area of Druid Hills at the intersection of North Decatur and Oxford Roads. Originally lining the streets south of the intersection, the commercial center has recently been reduced in size by a fire which destroyed the stores along South Oxford Road; these sites are currently vacant, and plans for rebuilding are still being made. Directly south of this commercial center is the northern edge of a golf course which stretches south through Druid Hills all the way to Ponce de Leon Avenue.

Overall, Druid Hills is characterized by continuity of natural terrain, landscape architecture, street layout, and site planning, and by consistency of scale among architecture, landscape architecture, and streetscape. Druid Hills is an exceptionally well-preserved, early-twentieth-century suburb with few non-contributing properties and even fewer intrusions.

Intrusions and Non-contributing Properties

Intrusions and non-contributing properties in Druid Hills are marked on the enclosed maps. Generally, these are brick ranch houses dating from the 1950s and 1960s, low-rise brick apartment buildings from the same decades, and a few "contemporary" houses. The ranch houses are situated individually or in small groups where large estates have been partially or wholly subdivided. The individual ranch houses are scattered throughout the district and tend to conform in terms of their setbacks and landscaping, if not their massing and detailing, to early-twentieth-century period standards. Concentrations of ranch houses occur along East Lake Road and around the Clifton-East Clifton Road circle. Subdivisions of the ranch houses are generally located off the main streets and are screened from public view by topography or trees. Apartment buildings are confined to the lower east side of Briarcliff Road and to a few locations along Ponce de Leon Avenue and North Druid Hills Road. Vacant lots resulting from a recent fire in the commercial center at the intersection of North Druid Hills and Oxford Roads constitute non-contributing properties at present.

Boundaries

Boundaries for the Druid Hills historic district have been carefully drawn to include only the property owned and developed by the Kirkwood Land Company and its successor, the Druid Hills Company, according to the plans of Frederick Law Olmsted, Sr., and his successors, the Olmsted Brothers, as the suburb of Druid Hills. These boundaries have been determined through extensive research using historical maps, subdivision plats, and deeds. They have been thoroughly field-checked. They bound the full extent of the Druid Hills suburb as it was planned and developed from the 1890s to the 1930s.

North of Druid Hills is the campus of Emory University. West of Druid Hills are the City of Atlanta neighborhoods of Virginia-Highland and Morningside. Morningside exhibits design characteristics similar to those of Druid Hills, but on a smaller scale, and the neighborhood was planned and developed separately from, and later than, Druid Hills. South of Druid Hills are several Atlanta neighborhoods, including Edgewood, Candler Park, and Kirkwood, each of which post-dates Druid Hills and none of which resembles it in plan or architecture. Southeast of Druid Hills, across the Seaboard Coast Line railroad tracks, is Parkwood, an area originally intended to be part of Druid Hills but not actually developed until the post-World War II era; a small subdivision along East Lake Road east of the railroad tracks is all that was developed here as an official "part of Druid Hills." Directly east of Druid Hills, and making an inroad into it, is the Fernbank Forest and Recreation Center, developed on a large estate which pre-dates and never was incorporated into Druid Hills. Northeast of Druid Hills are several small residential subdivisions associated with Emory University which were developed separately from, and later than, Druid Hills.

"Druid Hills" and "Druid Hills Parks and Parkways"

This "Druid Hills" historic district incorporates in its entirety the previously registered "Druid Hills Parks and Parkways" historic district (entered on the National Register on April 11, 1975). The earlier district extends along either side of Ponce de Leon Avenue from Briarcliff Road on the west to the Seaboard Coast Line railroad tracks on the east. At the time the earlier district was nominated, it was believed that Frederick Law Olmsted's involvement with Druid Hills was limited to this area, and the history of the suburb as a whole was not fully understood. Since then, research has brought to light documents which demonstrate Olmsted's involvement, at least in a preliminary way, with the entire suburb. The history of Druid Hills is also more fully understood now, and it shows how the planning and development of the whole suburb were directly guided by Olmsted's designs, as revised by the Olmsted Brothers. Thus, the area which was previously nominated as "Druid Hills Parks and Parkways" is now seen as but one section of the larger "Druid Hills."

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

Summary Statement of Significance

Druid Hills is historically significant primarily in the areas of landscape architecture, architecture, and community planning. Druid Hills is the finest example of late-nineteenth- and early-twentieth-century comprehensive suburban planning and development in the Atlanta metropolitan area, and one of the finest turn-of-the-century suburbs in the southeastern United States. Druid Hills is more specifically noted because: (1) it is a major work by the eminent landscape architect Frederick Law Olmsted and his successors, the Olmsted Brothers, and the only such work in Atlanta; (2) it is a good example of Frederick Law Olmsted's principles and practices regarding suburban development; (3) its overall planning, as conceived by Frederick Law Olmsted and more fully developed by the Olmsted Brothers, is of exceptionally high quality when measured against the prevailing standards for turn-of-the-century suburbs; (4) its landscaping, also designed originally by Frederick Law Olmsted and developed more fully by the Olmsted Brothers, is, like its planning, of exceptionally high quality; (5) its actual development, as carried out originally by Joel Hurt's Kirkwood Land Company and later by Asa G. Candler's Druid Hills Company, under the direction of company engineer O.F. Kauffmann, adhered remarkably to the Olmsted tenets in the face of changing times and conditions; (6) its residential architecture, designed by some of Atlanta's foremost architects, is of correspondingly high quality and represents a full range of early-twentieth-century eclectic and revivalistic styles, building materials, and construction techniques; and (7) as the second major metropolitan Atlanta suburb, it had a profound effect on the direction of future suburban development. In addition to its architecture, landscaping, and planning, Druid Hills is significant as the home of many of Atlanta's citizens who were prominent in early-twentieth-century political, financial, commercial, professional, academic, and cultural affairs.

Historic Narrative and Evaluation

For most of the nineteenth century, the site of Druid Hills was "unimproved" farm land in the country between Atlanta and Decatur. The area was traversed by Williams Mill Road (later Briarcliff Road) on the west, the Seaboard Coast Line railroad on the east, the turnpike between Decatur and Buckhead (later North Druid Hills Road) on the north, and the Georgia Railroad on the south. Land in this area was generally owned in large agricultural tracts.

During the late 1880s, Joel Hurt conceived of an "ideal residential suburb" to be developed on this land. Hurt was a prominent Atlanta businessman and developer. In the 1880s, he developed Inman Park, Atlanta's first suburb (listed on the National Register on July 23, 1973), built and operated Atlanta's first electric street railway from the suburb to the city along Edgewood Avenue, and commenced planning for Atlanta's first skyscraper, the Equitable Building (later the Trust Company of Georgia Building, demolished in 1971). Druid Hills was thus to be Hurt's second suburban residential development, and his largest and most comprehensive undertaking.

Between 1889 and 1892, Hurt made several moves toward carrying out his ideas for the new suburb. First, he organized the Kirkwood Land Company. Several prominent Atlantans were original stockholders in the company, including Robert Lowry, a banker who owned property in the area to be developed. The Kirkwood Land Company then acquired nearly 1,500 acres of land, including the Johnson, Kilpatrick, Pedan, Washington, Harrison, and Lowry tracts. S.Z. Ruff was hired as company engineer to prepare a topographic map of the holdings.

In 1892, Hurt secured Frederick Law Olmsted, Sr., as planner and designer for the new suburb. Apparently, Olmsted was to prepare preliminary overall plans and designs, and company engineer Ruff was to supervise their execution. Between 1892 and 1894, Olmsted visited Atlanta several times for the express purpose of consulting with Hurt and visiting the site. Hurt, in turn, visited Olmsted's office in Brookline, Mass., on at least one occasion to confer with Olmsted and view the latest suburban developments in the northeast. Considerable correspondence between the two men reviewed these meetings and elaborated upon the major points of discussion. Hurt, for example, wanted Olmsted to move ahead with working drawings for some 600 acres at the outset, while Olmsted argued for a general plan for the whole 1,500-acre suburb before any development was allowed to take place. Hurt also wanted an arrow-straight principal avenue modeled after Edgewood Avenue, which connected his earlier Inman Park suburb with Atlanta; Olmsted, characteristically, urged a more picturesque, curving avenue.

At this same time, Hurt became an amateur botanist and established a nursery on Williams Mill (later Briarcliff) Road. Here, under Olmsted's observation, he collected and cultivated a wide range of exotic and domestic landscaping plants.

By 1893, Olmsted had prepared a preliminary plan for the new suburb. Olmsted's plan called for a broad, curving, divided major avenue (Ponce de Leon), with a succession of public parks in the median, bordered by large estates. Secondary streets, narrower in width and also gently curving in alignment, ran northward, more or less perpendicular to the major divided avenue, and were bordered by smaller, long and narrow lots. Olmsted's plan also called for two artificial lakes and additional park land around them. This was to be Olmsted's most prestigious Southern work, his first significant work in Atlanta, and one of the last major works of his career. It embodied the general principles of suburban development set forth in Olmsted's first suburb of Riverside, to which he steadfastly adhered throughout his career. In general, the plan exhibited the combination of picturesque planning and landscaping with concern for function and livability that has made Olmsted's work famous. It also sought to combine, as most of Olmsted's residential work did, the civilization of the city as manifest in modern technology and sophisticated design with the natural attributes of the country in a suburban setting. Some of the more specific characteristics of the Olmsted plan are also worth noting. The principal avenue was divided for more than aesthetic reasons: one roadway was devoted to through or express traffic, while the other was designated as a more leisurely parkway. The electric trolley line was placed in the median rather than in the street to separate the different modes of transportation and to allow for more effective landscaping of the railbed, tracks, poles, and wires. Each of the series of median parks was differentiated by its landscaping; they ranged from relatively open greenwards to nearly impenetrable woods. There was a clear hierarchy of streets, depending upon their use, and all streets were sensitively laid into the natural terrain instead of being imposed upon it. To a large degree, these aspects of Olmsted's preliminary plan have been translated into the reality of Druid Hills.

After the preparation of Olmsted's plan, Hurt intended to proceed immediately with the laying out of rights-of-way, the grading of streets, and the

and the building of the lakes. However, the Panic of 1893 slowed business activity nationwide, and in its wake, the Kirkwood Land Company experienced financial difficulties. Several loans on the company's property later in the 1890s and a letter to a Boston lawyer regarding fees owed to the Olmsted firm record some of the problems. In addition, Hurt's numerous business activities, especially his electric street railway company, demanded his immediate attention.

After settlement and sale of the electric street railway company in 1901 allowed the repayment of some outstanding loans and bills, Hurt once again turned his attention to Druid Hills. By this time, Frederick Law Olmsted, Sr., had been incapacitated by illness; his successors, the Olmsted Brothers, assumed work on the suburb. Olmsted's original 1893 plan served as the basis for consultations between Hurt and Olmsted's stepson, John C. Olmsted, in 1902 and 1903. John Olmsted maintained the argument for comprehensive planning and was given the authority to do so. In 1904, the suburb was officially named "Druid Hills." In 1905, the Olmsted Brothers submitted a final plan for the southernmost portion of the Kirkwood Company land, including the Ponce de Leon corridor; this "general plan" was based entirely upon Olmsted's original plan. Accompanying this general plan was a schedule of deed covenants, also based on Olmsted's earlier suggestion, designed to secure the suburb from undesirable influences and to insure that the high standards of development would be maintained by future residents and property owners. These covenants called for: (1) a minimum lot size of one-quarter acre, (2) a minimum house cost, (3) allowance for only single-family houses, with no further lot subdivision, (4) the elimination and barring of nuisances, (5) uniform building setbacks, (6) prohibition of manufacturing or commerce, and (7) a 40-year covenant period. These restrictive covenants, largely adopted, were more comprehensive than the restrictive covenants in other local suburban developments and were considered an integral part of the planning and development of Druid Hills. More than the inherent quality of the suburb's design, they may have been responsible for the enduring character of Druid Hills.

Shortly after receipt of the 1905 general plan, construction began in Druid Hills. Roads were laid out and graded, surface drainage was engineered, the parks were developed, and a few building lots were graded and landscaped. Presumably, this work was done under the supervision of S.Z. Ruff, although this is not certain.

In 1908, the Kirkwood Land Company and its holdings in Druid Hills were purchased by a consortium of local businessmen. Circumstances surrounding the sale are unclear, but the sale price of $500,000 constituted the largest real-estate transaction in Atlanta's history. The new owners subsequently organized the Druid Hills Company. Coca-Cola magnate Asa Griggs Candler assumed the presidency; Forrest and George Adair, real-estate brokers, served as vice-president and secretary-treasurer respectively.

The Druid Hills Company made several changes in the planning and development of the Druid Hills suburb. Although the new company insisted that it would follow "in the main" the original plans of Frederick Law Olmsted as amended by the Olmsted Brothers, it immediately notified the Olmsted Brothers that their services were "no longer required" and then hired a new company engineer, O.F. Kauffmann, to prepare revised plans and working drawings. Previously established parts of the suburb, including the Ponce de Leon corridor, were left largely unchanged, but modifications were made elsewhere. Between 1908 and 1911, for example, much property was systematically replatted. Lots became progressively smaller as time went on. Plans for the two lakes were permanently shelved. Some intersections and stretches of roadway were realigned. Deed restrictions became progressively less restrictive and shorter in term. Sales of building lots were handled exclusively by the Forrest and George Adair real-estate agency.

Between 1908 and 1936, the Druid Hills Company successfully carried out the development of Druid Hills according to these new policies and procedures. The result was one of the finest early-twentieth-century suburbs in Atlanta and the Southeast. The decision to replate lots and eliminate some luxuries seems to have been based on a clear understanding of the changes taking place in the residential real-estate market of the time. Turn-of-the-century visions of mansions and estates were being replaced by the realities of period houses on modest, manageable lots. Furthermore, coordinated sales of lots through the Adair real-estate agency provided a degree of harmonious development otherwise unobtainable. Throughout, however, the legacy of Frederick Law Olmsted and the Olmsted Brothers is evident. Olmsted's original plans for the Ponce de Leon corridor have survived more or less intact, his plans for the entire suburb as amended by the Olmsted Brothers served as the framework for later developments, and the Olmsted design philosophy persevered through the two development companies and two company engineers.

The residences built in Druid Hills during the early-twentieth century are among the finest examples of period architecture in the Atlanta metropolitan area and the state of Georgia. These period houses range from mansions to bungalows, with a concentration in the middle range. They partake of a wide variety of eclectic and revivalistic styles, with the Georgian, Tudor, Jacobean, and Italian Renaissance represented in greatest numbers. Significant period materials include brick, tile, slate, half-timber, weatherboard, and shingle. Construction techniques are typically load-bearing masonry or wood frame with veneer. Although varied in design, the Druid Hills houses are related in terms of their period characteristics, setbacks, and site landscaping.

Some of Atlanta's most distinguished early-twentieth-century architects designed houses in Druid Hills. The list of these includes Walter T. Downing; Arthur Neal Robinson; Henry Hornbostel; Hentz, Reid, and Adler; Hentz, Adler, and Shutze; and Pringle and Smith. Several of these architects have more than one example of their work represented in the suburb; Neel Reid, for example, designed at least six houses of differing styles in addition to his own Georgian Revival home (1914).

Landscaping of private grounds around houses in Druid Hills was designed in a variety of ways. In some cases, the architect of the house suggested plans for landscaping. In other cases, the architect would subcontract with a landscape architect. In still other cases, independent landscape gardeners provided their services directly to the property owners; one such firm known to have been active in Druid Hills was the C.A. Dahl Company of Atlanta, whose motto was, "You build your house, let us make it a home." Regardless of the means, almost all landscaping led to the same end: informal "English" landscaping with an emphasis on broad, undulating lawns and casually disposed trees, shrubbery, flower gardens, and walks.

Little is known at the present time about the contractors who actually built Druid Hills.

It is important to note that the design and construction of houses and landscaping was not provided by the Druid Hills Company but rather by each property owner independently with the professionals of the owner's choice.

That such an arrangement produced results characterized by the harmony and grace of Druid Hills is a testimony to the strength of early-twentieth-century period design.

The planning and development of Druid Hills exerted a powerful influence on the direction of future suburban development in the Atlanta area. Most significantly, as a major real-estate undertaking, it strengthened the move toward suburban residency and away from downtown residency. Along with Inman Park, Joel Hurt's earlier suburb, it shifted the course of suburban residential development from the south to the east and northeast. The establishment of the Ponce de Leon corridor connecting eventually to Peachtree Road bolstered the suburban development of north Atlanta. It set an example to be emulated in such developing areas as Ansley Park, the West Paces Ferry Road neighborhood, Brookwood Hills, and, on a more modest scale, Morningside. Local designers who were not just influenced but actually trained in the Olmsted way at Druid Hills include S.Z. Ruff, the Kirkwood Land Company engineer who later designed Ansley Park for the South-Eastern Real Estate Improvement Company (listed on the National Register on April 20, 1979), and O.F. Kauffmann, the Druid Hills Company engineer who platted many significant suburban subdivisions.

The historical significance of Druid Hills as a suburb cannot be divorced from the historical significance of the many prominent Atlanta citizens who made Druid Hills their home in the early-twentieth century. These citizens constituted much of the leadership in Atlanta's political, financial, commercial, professional, academic, and cultural affairs. Chief among them was Asa Griggs Candler, founding president of the Coca-Cola Company, who has already been mentioned as not only living in the Druid Hills neighborhood but, as president of the Druid Hills Company, playing an important role in its planning and development. Two generations of the Candler family lived in Druid Hills, as did many executives of the Coca-Cola Company, the Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Atlanta, and the Trust Company of Georgia. Candler's land grant and endowment of Emory University, located immediately northeast of Druid Hills, not only insured the future of this educational institution, but more or less guaranteed a body of academic and professional people seeking homes in nearby Druid Hills. Other Druid Hills residents, generally not as well known as Candler, also contributed to the history of the city. Guy Woolford, who lived on Springdale Road, founded Retail Credit Company; William D. Thompson was dean of the Emory University Law School; Charles F. Stone was president of Atlantic Steel; John Ray Patillo was president of the Patillo Lumber Company; William Brownlee was president of the Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Atlanta; Simon Selig was president of the Selig Disinfectant Company. Other noted residents of Druid Hills include George and Forrest Adair, Monie Allen Ferst, Adolf Montag, Sigmund Montag, Samuel Candler Dobbs, O.F. Stone, Dr. Olin S. Cofer, Charles B. Shelton, and many others too numerous to mention. It is interesting to note that several of Atlanta's foremost architects, including Walter T. Downing, Robert Pringle, Neel Reid, and Arthur Neal Robinson, chose Druid Hills as the area in which they built their homes.

Historic Preservation in Druid Hills

In recent years, the residents of Druid Hills have shown great interest in the history and preservation of their neighborhood. Placement of the Druid Hills parks and parkways on the National Register in 1975 was an initial result of this interest. This move was followed shortly by Historic Atlanta District zoning for much of the same area. In 1976, the cities of Atlanta and Decatur, DeKalb County, Emory University, the Druid Hills Golf Club, the Lullwater Garden Club, the Fernbank Science and Recreational Center, and the Cerebral Palsy Center participated in a Bicentennial covenant, agreeing to conserve the natural and landscaped areas they publicly and privately own in Druid Hills for the next 100 years. That same year, the Druid Hills Civic Association hired a consultant to carry out a historic survey and prepare a National Register district nomination for the entire suburb [this nomination being based to a large degree upon that draft nomination].

Throughout the years, Druid Hills has been host to a number of academic historical studies by Emory University students and professors. Most recently, the Druid Hills Civic Association has offered its support, assistance, and endorsement of this National Register historic-district nomination. Thus, this nomination is part of a larger preservation movement in Druid Hills. Not only does it acknowledge the historic significance of the entire Druid Hills suburb, but it also lays the groundwork for future preservation planning and activity.

1715 Ponce De Leon Avenue, NE.
Atlanta, Georgia 30307

Dear Mr. Tamas:

Thank you for your recent letter concerning the nomination of Ponce De Leon Avenue as part of the Druid Hill Historic District, Atlanta, Georgia, to the National Register of Historic Places. This nomination has not yet been forwarded to us by the State. However, we feel that the following information may be of interest to you.

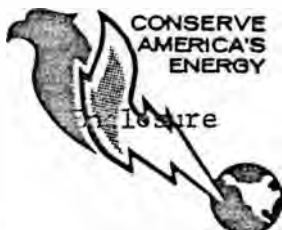

Nominations to the National Register are made by the States after research by the State Preservation staff and approval by a State Review Board made up of professional historians, architectural historians, and archeologists. Upon receipt of a nomination, the National Register staff must impartially apply the criteria for listing a property on the National Register to the nominated property. These criteria are listed in the enclosed leaflet entitled "The National Register of Historic Places."

Listing in the National Register is a governmental recognition that a property possesses historic values. Such listing does not place restrictions upon a private owner or upon a State or local government acting without Federal involvement. It does, however, insure that any federal agency contemplating an undertaking or licensing action which would have an effect on the property will allow the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation opportunity to review and comment on the action. Also, such listing makes the property eligible for financial assistance under Title I of the 1966 National Historic Preservation Act (80 Stat. 915), as amended.

We hope this information will be useful to you, and we shall be happy to answer any further questions.

Sincerely yours,

William J. Murtagh
Keeper of the National Register

JANIE SMITH, EDITOR

This is the final reminder of the annual meeting of the Druid Hills Civic Association which will be held Monday, March 28, 1977, at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium of the Druid Hills High School located on Haygood Drive, N.E.

The first order of business will be a discussion by representatives of the Historic Preservation Section of the State Department of Natural Resources concerning the nomination of the Druid Hills enlarged Historic Preservation District for placement on the National Register of Historic Places. A slide presentation will be part of this discussion and questions from Druid Hills residents will be invited.

Dr. Lewis Shelton,

The Association will vote on two proposed amendments to the Bylaws. The first amendment seeks to clarify the authority of the First Vice President when the position of President becomes vacant for any reason. The second amendment deals with granting authority to the Board of Directors to fill a vacancy on the Board for the unexpired period remaining on the vacated seat. This amendment would require at least a two-thirds majority vote of the Board of President of the Druid Hills Civic Association, will give a report to the meeting. The President's Report will be followed by the election of officers and the Treasurer's Report.

Directors and a quorum of that group present in order for the vote to be taken.

At the completion of these items of business, the remainder of the meeting will be devoted to an open forum in which Druid Hills residents can discuss or bring to the attention of other residents any problem considered to be of importance to the entire community. This will provide interested community and association members with an opportunity to be informed of community happenings. Residents are urged to attend this informative and important meeting and to come prepared with questions and comments.

P R O G R A M

1. Druid Hills Enlarged Historic District

Representatives of the Georgia Historic Preservation Section will discuss the nomination of Druid Hills' enlarged historic district to the National Register of Historic Places. The first district included the series of parks along Ponce de Leon Avenue in Druid Hills.

Staff members of the Section will explain the purpose and benefits of the National Register program and will also discuss the boundaries of the district and how these were determined. A slide presentation will include views of the district's historic structures. A question-and-answer period will follow concerning the National Register program in general and the Druid Hills district specifically.

Lyn Waskiewicz, preservation coordinator for the Historic Preservation Section, advises "This will be an ideal time for the residents of the district to discover the potential for historic preservation in their area and ways in which the National Register program can be used to protect and enhance the future of the district."

2. Report of the President

3. Treasurer's Report

4. Election of Officers

5. Amendments to D.H.C.A. Bylaws

STATE TO NOMINATE DRUID HILLS DISTRICT TO REGISTER

The State Historic Preservation Section of the Georgia Department of Natural Resources intends to nominate a portion of the Druid Hills residential area to the National Register of Historic Places, announced David Sherman, Chief of the Section.

The historic district nomination being proposed is an expansion of the present National Register Druid Hills District, which includes the parks of the Ponce de Leon Avenue corridor that give the area its distinct environment. The new district would take in the residential area which developed around the parks and was included in the original plan for the area.

Conceived by Atlantan Joel Hurt, who had previously planned the Inman Park suburb, this residential area in Druid Hills was begun in the 1890's and later sold to Asa G. Candler's Druid Hills Corporation, which continued to develop the area in accordance with the original plan. The area's significance is based upon: (1) its effect on the suburban residential growth patterns in Atlanta, (2) the well-prepared and -executed plan of the nationally-significant 19th-century landscape architect, Frederick Law Olmstead and his sons, who directed the

Dear David:

Please accept this letter as a response to your request for comments concerning the proposed nomination of the Druid Hills Area to the National Register of Historic Places. The Department requests that such nomination exempt the following areas from the historic district:

1. All publicly owned rights of way within the area of the proposed historic district.
2. A 100' wide strip just east of and adjacent to Fairview Road, a strip providing for an improved intersection of Lullwater Road and Ponce de Leon, and a strip providing for an improved radius between Lullwater Road and East Ponce de Leon Avenue, all of which are shown on the attached plat.
3. An additional 50' strip of land contiguous with Ponce de Leon Avenue which would include the area previously occupied by the old trolley line.

As you know, Ponce de Leon Avenue is a heavily traveled east/west thoroughfare designated on U. S. Routes 78, 278, and 29, as well as State Routes 8, 10 and 12. Current average 24-hour vehicle counts east of Briarcliff are over 26,000 vehicles per day. The current four lanes on Briarcliff Avenue are substandard in width. We anticipate that it will be necessary in the future to provide for the widening of Briarcliff Road. By making provision for the widening at this time, the impacts of this widening on the area can be minimized to a large extent.

The exemption of the 100' strip east of Fairview as shown on the attached map will be so as not to preclude the possibility of an arterial connector from Ponce de Leon at Lullwater into the Atlanta central business district.

The Department of Transportation requests that this proposed nomination be processed under Part B of the Memorandum of Understanding existing between it and the Department of Natural Resources.

The Department will be pleased to work with you in providing exact descriptions of the proposed exemptions. Please call upon us for this information at your convenience.

Very truly yours,

Bill Rives, P.E.

Druid Hills May Get Historic OK

By JOHN REETZ

A residential section of Druid Hills soon will be nominated to the National Register of Historic Places, a move that is almost sure to be accepted by federal preservation officials.

"Very, very few (nominations) are rejected," one state historic official said. "It's almost 100 per cent that it will be accepted."

The area to be suggested as a national historic site is located roughly between Emory University and Ponce de Leon Avenue.

The Druid Hills section of northeast Atlanta is noted for its large, early 20th-century homes and its landscape plan, designed by Frederick Olmstead, the designer of New York's Central Park.

If it is included in the national historic register as expected, the Druid Hills historic section will connect with a series of parks along Ponce de Leon Avenue that have already been added to the historic register.

"Technically, what we're doing is enlarging that historic district," said Lyn Waskiewicz of the Historic Preservation Section of the Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

The section suggested for inclusion in the historic register runs north from Moreland Avenue and Fairview Road along Briarcliff Road to the Emory Road area. At that intersection, the boundary runs east toward Emory University, then heads south adjacent to Clifton Road.

The border line zig-zags south until it nears the East Lake community, then extends west several blocks south of Ponce de Leon Avenue.

DNR officials believe the area is significant because of the following:

- As one of the first planned communities in Atlanta, it had an effect on suburban residential growth patterns in the city.
- Olmstead, a well-known architect in the 19th century, did the early planning for the area.
- The quality and diversity of the architectural styles is also important.
- Many influential Atlanta citizens have lived in the area.

Other than the status of being included in a historic area, the only benefits residents will receive is protection from federal projects that might disrupt the area, Miss Waskiewicz said.

DNR officials will be accepting public comment on the proposed nomination to the historic register until Wednesday.

Dear David:

Reference is made to my letter to you dated April 22, 1977 concerning the proposed nomination of the Druid Hills area to the National Register of Historic Places.

Unfortunately, in the last paragraph on page 1 of that letter, I stated "The current four lanes on Briarcliff Avenue are substandard in width. We anticipate that it will be necessary in the future to provide for the widening of Briarcliff Road." The street names used are in error. The sentence should read as follows. "The current four lanes on Ponce de Leon Avenue are substandard in width. We anticipate that it will be necessary in the future to provide for the widening of Ponce de Leon."

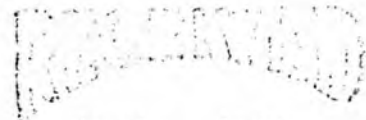

I apologize for this error and trust that it will not inconvenience you.

Comments:

This designation is deserved by the streets such as Lullwater because of their landscaping by the Olmsted's, which is truly a masterpiece. My house, 886 Lullwater, was built by Claude Bennett, the jeweler, and has many associations with members of the Rodder family, now running the company. This is much the same argument used for Ponce de Leon, where we have the Hart home (1655, belonging to my wife), with associations with the Stones and the managers of Fulton Bay, the Arnights, Henry's & others. Much the same is true for the whole of Druid Hills. It shows how the leaders of the New Atlanta presented themselves, and the style is excellent.

Dear Mr. Rives:

We appreciate your concerns relative to the nomination of a portion of the Druid Hills area to the National Register of Historic Places. Copies of your letters of April 22 and May 2 have been filed with the nomination papers and will be made available to the Georgia Review Board on July 14, 1977, when the Board considers an expansion of the present National Register district there. As you will note on the enclosed map, the major portion of the area of your concern is now already on the National Register as a part of the Druid Hills Parks and Parkways District. This district was nominated to the Register in November, 1974 and officially listed on April 11, 1975. It was, therefore, given National Register status prior to the Memorandum of Understanding between DOT and DNR and the present National Register notification procedures 36 C.F.R. Section 60.12.

Please feel free to contact us for further clarification should you feel this necessary.

Dear Sir:

As requested by the Zoning Review Board at the April 25, 1978 work session, the following is a report of my research related to the Historical designation of the Ponce De Leon Corridor and the surrounding Druid Hills area in the city of Atlanta. Although I am not a professional at this, these results were attained through careful and time consuming research of material at the (a) Woodruff Library Emory University, (b) Georgia Department of Natural Resources, Historic Preservation Section, (c) Urban Design Commission, and public records as well as careful observation and scrutiny of this entire historical designation process since it began in our area in 1974. I believe you will find the results as outlined in the following pages to be most interesting if not astounding. A summary of conclusions

As supported by available records and as annotated herein are as follows:

SUMMARY OF CONCLUSIONS

1. It can be stated without qualification that the noted and widely acclaimed landscape architect Frederick Law Olmstead, Sr. had absolutely no personal involvement whatsoever in the actual design or subsequent construction of the Ponce De Leon Corridor and surrounding area. The facts simply do not support this contention which was the primary justification for designation of the area as historic and thereby being placed on the National Register of Historical Places.

2. In fact quite the contrary was the case. Mr. Frederick Law Olmstead did not want his name associated with the (then) entrepreneur Joel Hurt who tried to get the name of Olmstead involved so he could secure financing to keep from going under on the vast acreage he had acquired (apparently on credit) --- Mr. Hurt ultimately was forced to sell out. This sale occurred before any work was done and one year after the death of Frederick Law Olmstead following his illness of more than 5 years ~~at~~ during which he was totally incapacitated.

3. Frederick Law Olmstead succumbed to the infirmities of old age into total and complete retirement ill and senile before any involvement of his Company which were mainly preliminary discussions with his sons and Mr. Hurt. Frederick Law Olmstead's few trips to Atlanta around 1893, at the twilight of his career, were in connection with the planned Cotton States Exposition which his firm also declined to do. Evidence also indicates at that time he was already quite ill and beginning to become mentally disoriented as he expressed fear of malaria in Atlanta and was advised soon to stop travelling.

4. Nowhere in the extensive autobiographies of the renowned Frederick Law Olmstead is any plan (or even preliminary plan) <sup>of Druid Hills</sup> to be found although many, many other notable projects are found including his first and biggest project, New York City's Central Park which launched him on his career.

5. Also, I have found the formal submissions for the Ponce De Leon Corridor and Druid Hills as historic to be cleverly (or carelessly) slanted and they confusingly interrelate the names of Olmstead, John Olmstead, Frederick Olmstead Jr. and Frederick Law Olmstead and then go on to speak of only Olmstead as though Frederick Law Olmstead had an involvement when in fact he was totally incapacitated by illness (for over 5 years) and finally deceased (August 28, 1903) when the Company which he formed, which was a business operation operated by his sons and others, became involved and even that involvement was in the end very minor - almost non-existent particularly as it relates to the area today. The fact is somebody else did the real planning and real work as the area was developed over a period of many years i.e., an engineer S.Z. Riff employed by Jail Hurt and later O.F. Kaufman engineers employed by Druid Hill Land Co.

6. In an interview on April 27, 1978 with Dr. Elizabeth Lyon of the Georgia Department of Natural Resources, Historic Preservation Section, who did much writing on this subject and which was to serve as <sup>the</sup> justification for historical designation shortly thereafter, when confronted with the above facts stated, quote

 "Well you see, what we really meant was that it was his influence that made the effect." Unquote. She was unable to produce any plan or even preliminary sketches with the name of Frederick Law Olmsted on it -- as by the way are available in abundance for his numerous other notable projects.
 Dr. Lyon also stated that she didn't care about any report to the Atlanta Zoning Review Board as to imply she were far above that level, and when shown a reply of a letter dated November 1, 1974 (Copy enclosed) concerning their submission of the Ponce De Leon Corridor to the National Park Service, U.S. Dept. of Interior for possible listing on the National Register of Historic Places in which assurance was given that "Such listing does not place restrictions upon a private owner or upon a state or local government acting without Federal involvement" she disavowed any involvement and could care less about the severe restrictions and almost absolute controls now being placed upon the private property owners. (By the way she made me wait for 5 1/2 hours to see her.)

⑥ and was visibly upset when we talked on the subject of historical zoning for Druid Hills.

7. I have also discovered that yet another submission adding an additional 1000 acres to the Historical Control district is in the final stage ready to be sent to Washington. The document is also cleverly written and "high toned" but unfortunately also blatantly fallacious. For example, the report states "In November 1903 after the retirement of Fredrick Olmstead--" when in fact he died in August of that year and was completely incapacitated and mentally senile for the preceding 5 to 7 years.

8. Finally, it must be concluded that if "his influence" as reflected through others work is sufficient justification for listing on the Nation Register of Historical Places then we had better include half the United States. The extremely important principle involved here is if one segment of our society employs this method of eroding our freedoms, in this case <sup>private</sup> property rights (a man's home is his castle) it will be just the beginning of the loss of other freedoms ~~as~~ other segments of our society looking for advantages will seek yet other control to "protect" their areas of concern.
— invaluable involvement is a vital importance!

There must be a more rational and equitable method within the framework of the new zoning ordinance equally applied to all home <sup>property</sup> owners, to protect what we have and yet assure the happiness and tranquility of all.

Dear Sir:

In 1974 I expressed my opposition to the designation of Ponce De Leon Ave and the surrounding area of  Druid Hills, Atlanta, Georgia as historic, as in my opinion there is no valid basis for such designation. I understand another submission is soon to be forwarded to your office requesting the addition of an additional 1000 acres. I am unalterably opposed to these designations and am forwarding the enclosed material which will help to explain why and request your consideration to delist these properties and help turn back the tide.

The report to the Atlanta Zoning Review Board is self explanatory. The enclosed Article 6 to the proposed Atlanta Zoning Ordinance confirms my fears of 1974 of the erosion I could at that time envision with respect to private property rights - a basic freedom upon which this country was founded. You assurances of no restrictions on private property in your letter to me of November 1, 1974 (copy enclosed) have not been borne out.

As I view this matter, we have an extremely important underlying basic principle involved. If our freedoms can be eroded through mechanisms such as this, then in the long run we are all headed <sup>for</sup> trouble and will be living in a different America than the one we now know and love so dearly. Furthermore, it is my belief that this process is unconstitutional and ultimately will be proven so. I have no quarrel with preserving our heritage which I feel we must do with zeal and vigor.
The subject at hand, however, I feel is another matter.

Please give this matter your careful personal attention. Thank you for your kind consideration.

Sincerely,

Edward F. Tamas.

Dear Liz:

I enjoyed very much speaking with you by telephone last week. Unfortunately, I have been unable to garner any further information concerning the individual about whom you had inquired.

As I promised, I am enclosing herein the letter which was prepared for the Atlanta Zoning Review Board by Mr. Edward Tamas. I would appreciate it very much if you would provide me with a response to this letter which refutes the attack which Mr. Tamas makes upon the historical evidence which was used to justify the inclusion of the Ponce de Leon Corridor in the National Register of Historic Places. It seems to me that the rather amateurish approach which Mr. Tamas uses in his letter would influence very few people. Unfortunately, however, some people are swayed by those who loudly proclaim in an emotional manner, and I am fearful that that may be the case if we do not respond to the Tamas letter.

I have been advised that Mr. Tamas is presently preparing to seek a rezoning of his property on the Ponce de Leon Corridor, and I have also been advised that very shortly the community may be called upon to respond to Mr. Tamas' letter which I am enclosing. Therefore, I would appreciate your earliest response to this request and I can assure you that the community will be very appreciative of your efforts.

If I can be of any assistance to you at any time, please don't hesitate to contact me.

Mr. Gary R. Smith
Associate Dean

Dear Gary:

I appreciate the opportunity to comment on the historical significance of Druid Hills, particularly as it has been discussed in the letter from Mr. Tamas to the Atlanta Zoning Review Board which was enclosed in your letter.

First, let me say that I appreciate Mr. Tamas' persistence in this project, especially since in a letter sent to the Historic Preservation Office some years ago when the first Druid Hills nomination was being reviewed, he indicated that it really should not be of importance that some 19th century landscape architect was associated with the planning of Druid Hills.

Let me set the record straight about Mr. Tamas' visit to our office. On the day on which Mr. Tamas arrived, early in the morning, without an appointment in our office, he had telephoned earlier that same morning, without an appointment in our office, but returned his call and received no answer. At the time I was tied up in a conference, several years ago in a budget cut, we have tried to keep our library open to the public during the afternoons by assigning a staff member to service it. However, since Mr. Tamas had arrived without that information, we tried to accommodate him by allowing him to use the library. This of course meant that the time of a staff member was required to obtain the materials which he needed for his research. Since I had a full day of scheduled meetings, my secretary indicated to Mr. Tamas that I might possibly be able to speak to him if he were able to come back in the afternoon between my meetings. He indicated this was no problem and he would be there, and we had our conversation at that time. Apparently Mr. Tamas mistook the pressures of that day's schedule for some sort of distress on my part at his questions. Since there simply is no doubt about the historic and physical significance of Druid Hills nor of the documentation which supported our original nomination, I assure you this was not the case.

Frederick Law Olmsted's personal involvement with Druid Hills is very carefully documented and described in my paper prepared for the Southeast American Studies Conference, which Mr. Tamas does quote and uses a reference. Therefore, it is difficult to see how he can conclude that there was no involvement on the part of the noted landscape architect. It is true that biographies and studies of Olmsted had not been extensive enough to include the work in the south. This work has been brought to light by more recent scholarship including our work at Emory, and a recent biography by Elizabeth Stevenson of Emory University.

It is also true that at one point in 1893, Olmsted was advising his son and partner, John Olmsted, that they ought to withdraw from the Druid Hills project. However, Hurt was successful in convincing the Olmsted firm to continue their participation and later that same year there is a bill which clearly records the fact that a plan was prepared during the time the senior Olmsted was still active in the office. While we have never had the funds available either to send a researcher to the Brookline office where the plans are filed, or to have the plan reprinted and placed in the Archives in Atlanta, there is no doubt that it exists as it is recorded in an inventory of plans provided to us by the Olmsted office in Brookline, Massachusetts. There is, in addition, considerable written evidence to indicate what the main outlines of the plans were and to support the fact that they formed the basis for the final plans which were drawn and signed by the successor firm to Olmsted and Elliott, Olmsted Brothers. There is no intention to "cleverly slant the record" as Mr. Tamas has accused: the names of Fredrick Law Olmsted, Sr., John Olmsted, Jr., and Fred L. Olmsted, are inter-related since they worked together and since the sons very clearly carried on the father's work according to his principles.

Further, there was an increasing amount of work in the south by the Olmsted sons, and this activity grew out of a suggestion contained in a letter written by Olmsted in the mid 90's. He advised his stepson and partner that the firm should pay more attention to the south and that there would be opportunities for further work there. Furthermore, it is not true that somebody else did the real planning and the real work for Druid Hills. In letters and reports which begin in 1890 and go over the entire period down to the sale of the property to the Candler interests in 1908, the contributions of the Olmsted firm are clear. The engineer, Solon Z. Ruff, who was employed by Joel Hurt, did do surveying and provided assistance in the planning for Druid Hills. However, the record indicates that Mr. Ruff was a competent engineer who worked under the direction of the Olmsteds and Joel Hurt. Later, clearly using principles learned through the Druid Hills experience, Ruff was the planner who drew plans for the Ansley Park subdivision. Later, the engineer O. F. Kauffman was also employed by the Druid Hills Company and did draw blueprints for the original Olmsted plans. The Kauffman firm drew plans for later development chiefly in the northern and eastern sections of the Druid Hills area. In these later developments, the original large lots were subdivided and made considerably smaller, but the major physical principles laid down by the Olmsted firm were still evident. It was this kind of influence on the design, which I was trying to explain to Mr. Tamas, in my conversation with him. The physical planning principles which derive from the Olmsted plans have clearly influenced the development and the final physical form of the entire Druid Hills area. Even without the direct historical association of the Olmsted name, these design principles which make such a distinct and landscaped environment, would be significant and would be sufficient to qualify the property for listing on the National Register of Historic Places. The fact that the Olmsted firm was associated with the design, gives the property an added level of significance and was the reason that the Druid Hills Parks and Parkways were listed on the National Register at a national level of significance.

The criteria for the National Register indicates that properties are eligible which represent the broad patterns of our history, and which are distinct in period, type, method of construction and artistic value. The association with important individuals and events in history are also important to listing on the Register. For your information, I enclose a brochure on the Register which lays out these criteria.

y R. Smith

I also discussed historic zoning and its relationship to the National Register with Mr. Tamas. I surely did not indicate that I did not care about reports to the Atlanta Zoning Review Board. Rather, I tried to indicate to Mr. Tamas the difference between the role and implications of National Register listing and Historic Zoning. As you are aware, the National Register is a planning tool whose goal is to impact federally planned and federally funded projects and to provide benefits such as grants-in-aid and tax benefits to properties which are listed thereon. As I indicated to Mr. Tamas, historic zoning is a function of local government, not of our office, and should be discussed with the appropriate local officials. While a National Register district provides the recognition and identity which sometimes forms the basis for historic zoning action, it is not the same thing and often does not include the same area. The purposes and the impact of each action need to be distinguished. The letter from the Keeper of the National Register which was attached to the papers that you enclosed and which is quoted by Mr. Tamas in his letter, indicates that listing on the National Register does not place legal restrictions on a private property owner. It does provide benefits which can assist in the revitalization of residential and commercial areas in which older buildings are located. I know that the Druid Hills Civic Association is aware of the growing preservation movement in urban residential and commercial neighborhoods. Not only is this activity of benefit to the historical character of areas, and therefore to the enrichment of the way of life of America's urban citizens, but is also proving to be economically beneficial to such areas.

I hope this information is of assistance to you. Please let me know if there is anything else that our office can do to support your efforts.

Sincerely,

Dear Sir:

(Ga)
As a resident of this area (Druid Hills) for most of my life, I am pleased at the prospect of this area being preserved.

Many of the homes were designed by the well-known architect, Keit Reid, whose work has been recognized in other sections of the country. Future architects might well find inspiration for their work in his buildings.

Druid Hills is attracting younger business executives and professional people which should assure it continuing as a stable community of well maintained old homes.

We hope Druid Hills will meet with the approval of the National Register's staff and the Secretary of the Interior.

Dear Property Owner:

The property you own is located in a historic district that has been nominated for listing in the National Register of Historic Places. The National Register is the government's official list of historic buildings and other cultural resources worthy of preservation. This nomination is pending in our office.

If your property is depreciable and the district is listed in the National Register, there are certain benefits and provisions of the Tax Reform Act of 1976 that may apply to you. We are enclosing information about this law and a general description of the National Register program.

Soon we will be considering whether the district should be listed, using as our guidelines the "Criteria for Evaluation" shown in the enclosed material. If you wish to comment on whether the district should be listed, we would be pleased to hear from you. Send your comments within 30 days of the date of this letter to me, Charles A. Herrington, Acting Keeper of the National Register, Heritage Conservation and Recreation Service, Department of the Interior, Pension Building, 440 G Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20243 (Attn: NOM). Please include the name of the district (as shown on the address label on this letter) and property address. If you have questions about the National Register program or the enclosed material, you should also address them to me.

In the enclosed material you will note references to standards for rehabilitating old buildings. These standards are a list of do's and don't's for people who are fixing up old buildings. If the owner of a building listed in the National Register, either individually or as part of a district, wishes to take advantage of the Tax Reform Act benefits, these standards must be followed. A copy of these standards is available from Technical Preservation Services, Heritage Conservation and Recreation Service, Department of the Interior, Pension Building, 440 G Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20243. Questions about the standards should also be addressed to that same office.

Sincerely,

Re: Druid Hills Hist. Dist.

Dear Mr Herrington,

Our neighborhood is one of the oldest and best kept of close-in neighborhoods that has always kept its dignity. It is valued by its owners - many are the original and many have been here 40-50 years! The architecture is varied and shows fine workmanship. The structures are solid - many holding up better than new homes. We are close-in to Atlanta which is one thing which helps increase its value.

The benefits allowed to those listed in the National Register would certainly help keep the Druid Hills area as lovely as it is today. The tax benefits and grants-in-aid will help as you lifts are needed.

Old neighborhoods have had quite a come back in the last decade and will certainly continue to do so as new housing and gasoline prices increase. Being listed in the National Register would help ensure our neighborhood's continued success in keeping up with modern times.

Sincerely,

Mr & Mrs Cliff D Cleveland

Thank you for your letter of 8/21/79.
It is an honor to have our neighborhood selected for nomination to the Nat'l Register of Historic Places. However, I would like to know what effects this might have on the long-range uses for my property.

Does listing limit my freedom to do what I want with my property?

If there are limitations, do they arise only if I take advantage of the tax advantages? (Do I need to successfully file a certificate of "not significant" to remove any limitations?)

For example:
would it never be possible to tear the house down? would it never be possible to obtain a zoning change?

HENCE, LISTING OF THE SUBJECT DISTRICT, AN EXTENSION OF THE EXISTING HISTORIC DISTRICT, WOULD GIVE PRESTIGE AND PROTECTION FOR ADDITIONAL PROPERTY OWNERS. Dear Mr. Herrington:

RE: Druid Hills Historical District

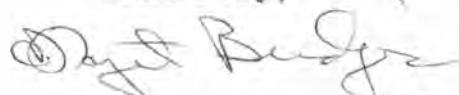

I would like to express my opposition to the creation of an Historic District to comprise the Druid Hills neighborhood of Atlanta, Georgia.

Although Druid Hills is one of the more attractive neighborhoods in Atlanta and has many merits as a place to live, the creation of an Historic District in it would make a mockery of the National Register of Historic Places. The only distinguishing feature of Druid Hills which makes it worthy of special recognition is the size and grandeur of its trees.

The district is not particularly old, and the houses and properties in it are not distinguished by their age. The architecture is varied but hardly important, except for a few houses in the area built by members of the Candler family (of Coca-Cola fame) which stand out in their peculiar unattractiveness. The area is of no particular historic interest.

If Druid Hills were to qualify for such special recognition, so should virtually any neighborhood in the United States, and such recognition would be meaningless. The proposal to make Druid Hills an Historic District appears to be a handy way for interested parties to save tax money. I would be happy to receive any such benefit as a property owner in the district; as a taxpayer, however, I must protest that the proposal is a fraud.

Sincerely,

Margaret Bridges

My dear Mr. Herrington,

We are definitely interested in the Druid Hills Historic District being considered for a listing in the National Registry of Historic Places. We recommend it as we feel it is worthy of Historic Preservation for the following reasons

1. Its parklands - designed by the famous landscape architect Frederick L. Olmstead.

2. The quality of its architecture. Many homes and gardens were designed by Neal Reid, Georgia's most distinguished architect. (We own, and have lived for 30 years in the home Mr. Reid built for himself and his mother and we have kept the same colors he originally used throughout the house, and the garden is still as he laid it out.) His associates were outstanding architects and several lived in the area and designed most of the homes on Springdale, Oakdale, and Fullwater Roads as well as Fairview Rd.

3. The area was developed largely by Asa Candler who gave the world Coca Cola - and he and his kin literally <sup>gave</sup> us Emory University and Agnes Scott College. His successors in Coca Cola have continued his philanthropy and have <sup>given</sup> many millions to Emory, and to Atlanta to enrich the cultural life and beautify the city.

Respectfully yours.

Dear Mr. Herrington,

Thank you for sending the material relative to the nomination of this section of Druid Hills to the National Register.

Our home at 1391 N. Decatur Rd. was built for Warren Candler, brother of Asa Candler Sr. sometime between the years 1919 and 1923. Warren was the Georgia Bishop of Methodist Church and lived in this house until his death.

In 1942 the estate sold the property to the Trustees of the N. Ga. Methodist Conference and they moved the new Bishop, Arthur J. Moore, and family into the home. In 1960 the Trustees sold the property to Bishop Moore who lived here until his death. In 1974 it was deeded to the Bishop's son, Wilbur Wardlaw, who with his wife, Lynda Hardy Moore, now occupy the home. Wardlaw is at present the Treasurer of the N. Ga. Methodist Conference.

There are several Candler homes in the immediate vicinity. Across from us on N. Decatur Rd. lives Dr. Candler Gay, whose father was Dr. Sam Gay, Emory University Professor, and whose mother was the daughter of Judge Candler, brother of Asa Sr. There is another Candler home up the street from us and the homes of the late Howard Candler and Asa Candler Jr. are very near us on Briarcliff Rd.

Our house is a large red brick on the corner of Oxford and N. Decatur Rds and we have kept the home in very good condition.

Thank you for considering this section of Druid Hills for the National Register

Sincerely,
Lloyd Moore

Sirs:

Reference your letter of August 21, 1979 concerning nomination of the "Druid Hills" (Atlanta) area to the National Register of Historic Places.

As the owner of a home in Druid Hills, it is highly recommended and hoped that the Druid Hills area will be placed on the National Register. Because of its topography and landscaping, and the fact that most of the homes in this area were built in the early 1900's, they could never be replaced. Druid Hills is known over much of the United States as an old and historic residential area. It should be retained.

Again, it is strongly recommended that "Druid Hills" be placed on the National Register and that it be given favorable consideration.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Herrington:

I own a home located at 1436 Fairview Road Atlanta Ga. 30306. Fairview Road is a part of Druid Hills - which was one of the first fine subdivisions in the city of Atlanta. The area is made up of fine homes built in the early part of the century. Most of these are in excellent condition, and are owned by professional people, business executives etc.

The area has been nominated for listing in the National Register of Historical Places. I think this area certainly meets all of the requirements of the listing. It has been the home of many of the people responsible for the growth and development of Atlanta.

I refer to 663.

Dear Mr. Herrington:

This is in response to your letter of August 21, 1979, File 663, Reference: Druid Hills Historic District.

I have prided myself as being a person who believes in the necessity and inevitability of change. In the strictest sense, most "historic places" were, at the time of their development, changes from the past. Thus, it is not preservation for the sake of preservation that demands my attention.

I am, however, committed to safeguarding the aesthetic aspects of our heritage. In this I tend to be eclectic, choosing among the ancient and the contemporary for the beautiful and the artistic. It is in <sup>this</sup> vein that I support the designation of Druid Hills as an Historic District.

Druid Hills is a beautiful community. It is diverse in its architecture, unique in the way it was planned and heterogeneous in its characteristics as they relate to society.

Druid Hills deserves to be placed on the National Register of Historic Places not only because of its past, but for what it is now and what it is likely to mean to future generations. That its history is important is unquestioned; that it remains a unique and viable community is inspiring; that its future will be secured is a responsibility and challenge.

Druid Hills has survived with grace and dignity which deserves recognition and preservation as an example of "the best" in the American tradition.

Sincerely,

Justin D. Jones

Dear Sir:

This letter is in response to your letter dated August 21, 1979 requesting comments concerning the proposed "historical" designation of the Druid Hills subdivision in Atlanta, Georgia.

I am unalterably apposed to designation of the Druid Hills subdivision of Atlanta, Georgia as "historic" as I have already expressed in my correspondence to Mr. William J. Murtagh, Keeper of the National Register in 1974 and also April 28, 1978. These increasing assaults and continuing efforts toward further usurpation of our precious property rights are unwarranted, are totally without merit and in my judgement are un-American.

There exists absolutely no valid or constitutional basis whatsoever for listing this area as "historical" as is the case with hundreds of other subdivisions throughout the country. This type of zoning control superimposed over already existing zoning control is unwarranted, un-needed and unwanted. This effort at historical zoning of this vast residential district is just one of a continuing series of devices that have been employed by a relatively small but highly elitist local group to artificially retard and control essential evolutionary changes that are needed in this area such as critically needed public safety transportation improvements along the Ponce De Leon traffic corridor. Additionally, it has been my observation that the true motivating purpose of this tightly knit group is to facilitate "dealing" in real estate by certain of these unscrupulous individuals who are among the principal proponents and the very instigators of this "historical" zoning control movement. I have facts and can cite cases to back up these serious charges.

Furthermore, your letter of 8/21/79 requesting these comments addressed merely to property owner grossly misrepresents the total and potential impact of "historical zoning" and does not even hint of the type of controls that will be placed upon private property by the local governing jurisdiction using the "historical" listing as justification. Your hands off attitude by saying "well, we're not responsible for that" is not only devious but in my opinion is gross misrepresentation and is utterly dishonest. As you well know, the proposed Atlanta zoning ordinance for the already designated Ponce De Leon Ave. "historical" district is so restrictive that it would even dictate the color and type of window curtains one's wife could place on her windows. The people should be informed of these very serious potential restrictions in your letter instead of all the glowing irrelevant and misleading crap that it does contain. It is apparent from your letter that you "historical" proponents have found a really vulnerable area within our society and are now working feverishly in collusion with one another to build careers for yourselves at the expense of unwary tax payers. Please, PLEASE get off our backs. Will these continuing assaults on our property rights not cease? If you want to control our property come and buy it with your hard earned money, and pay the taxes on it and assume the responsibility for its upkeep.

We, as tax paying law abiding citizens should somehow, and as part of our American birthright be protected from these unwarranted attacks on our property rights by such elitist groups which are highly organized and are very political. As an absolute minimum, a public hearing on this proposal should be held to determine the true sentiments of the people and where both sides can be heard. This cannot be left merely to local politicians who are in collusion with the elitist proponents of the "historical " zoning property control movement. Bear in mind, as I have noted in my previous <sup>correspondence</sup> to Mr. Murtagh, when the public hearing was held to designate Ponce De Leon Ave., Atlanta, Georgia as " historic " the opposition by the property owners ( who as required by law were individually notified by letter ) was so intense that the Planning Commission of Atlanta turned it down. But sadly it was later railroaded through the Atlanta City Council - Which as you may know functions along the lines of something like a kangaroo court. This action was taken in private session by the way. Question--- Why was the public hearing held?

With respect to the present listing of the Ponce De Leon traffic corridor as "historic", the principal justification for the designation was based on the alleged involvement of one Mr. Fredrick Law Olmstead, Sr. in the original plan for the area. But after carefully researching the topic, I believe it can be stated without qualification that the "historical" listing was accomplished under false pretenses. Additionally, during my research for the original Ponce De Leon Ave. submission, I also discovered that the original Justification for the designation of the entire Druid Hills subdivision, which was already being prepared I had discovered to my horror, had Mr. Olmstead retiring after he had already in fact been dead. This was apparently corrected after I brought it to the attention of Dr. Elizabeth Lyon of the Georgia Historic Section. I have also since discovered in my additional research to prepare this letter, that the Kirkwood Land Company was'nt even organized by Mr. Joel Hurt until 1902. This information was found in the book "Joel Hurt and the Development of Atlanta" written in 1965 by Sarah Simms Edge, Grand-daughter of Mr. Joel Hurt. This book also plainly verifies that it was the company left to the sons of Olmstead Sr. and others who had only minimal involvement and influence which is totally irrelevant considering the situation today. Furthermore, even if it were granted that Mr. Olmstead Sr. himself took pencil in hand and actually drew the layout for this area (which he most certainly did not) that event would in no way serve as justification for zoning. The Georgia Supreme Court has already ruled and has since upheld in a number of cases that a zoning classification may be justified only if it bears a substantial relation to the public health, safety, morality or general welfare. Further, in 1977 the court specifically directed that lower courts, in considering the validity of zoning, could not concern themselves with "master plans" for community growth, per se, or with aesthetic values. There is no doubt that this "historical" zoning of vast residential areas, should it go forward as is presently being plotted and planned, that the whole mess will be thrown out by the courts the first time it is put to the test so why subject us tax paying property owners to this oppressive and expensive and time consuming exercise in futility. Just the time and effort to prepare this letter on this subject which is being done at your request is in itself burdensome since it is taking me not only hours to type but also days to research as well.

Concerning the present real world situation as it relates to the Ponce De Leon corridor today, as anybody can plainly see that studies the current land use, it is a hodge-podge of stagnation mixed with some properties like mine which are well cared for. For the past 10 years or so there has been applied an Apartment Limited (AL) zoning classification (by these same few people) which is so ridiculous that not one parcel of property has been developed under that ordinance. I happen to know that that it was expressly designed to serve that purpose which forced use of the variance procedure thereby allowing total control on a one-on-one basis. The latest device to achieve the same control is this "historic" zoning ploy.

Over the years the problems have mounted for the property owners, and for the motorists who travel on Ponce De Leon Avenue they have become critical. Ponce De Leon Avenue today is a major thoroughfare, a major truck route, a major bus route, and is no less than three U.S. Highway routes. It is too narrow, sub-standard, and is extremely dangerous. More than three thousand cars, trucks and buses zoom through the intersection where my property is located per hour during peak periods. The peak periods are growing longer. As a result, the accident rate - both frequency and severity - has risen alarmingly. To delay further the much needed traffic safety improvements in my opinion is criminal.

As bad as the situation is today it is rapidly going to get worse. The Lawrenceville Highway is now being 4-laned and it, as well as the Stone Mountain Freeway both dump into Scott Boulevard which in turn dumps into Ponce De Leon Avenue. Citizen groups and De Kalb County officials are now fighting over the closing of side streets to keep the spill-over traffic from coming into certain of the residential areas as was evidenced by the recent public mass meetings at the De Kalb County courthouse on this subject. It is past time for our respected public officials to take courage and act in the broad public interest and not allow themselves to be further coerced or unduly influenced by small elitist, politically oriented, so-called civic groups that do not represent the broad public interest.

With respect to the "historic" designation of the Druid Hills subdivision, it can be stated without qualification that the noted landscape architect Fredrick Law Olmstead, Sr. had no involvement with design or construction of Ponce De Leon Avenue or the Druid Hills subdivision which in fact evolved over many years and is still evolving. In fact, what actually took place my research reveals was quite to the contrary. In the very twilight of his career F.L. Olmstead, Sr. made a limited number of very brief visits to Atlanta in connection with the Cotton States Exposition (which by the way he also declined). During these visits he was reported approached by the (then) entrepreneur Mr. Joel Hurt who tried to get the name of Olmstead involved so that he could secure additional financing to keep from going under on the vast acreage (which is today Druid Hills) he had acquired - apparently on credit. Mr. Hurt was ultimately forced to sell out and the sale took place before any work was done on the property and in fact more than a year after the death of Mr. Fredrick Law Olmstead, Sr. whose death occurred on August 28, 1903. Furthermore, for the five to seven years preceding his death, Mr. Olmstead had succumbed to the infirmities of old age into total and complete retirement ill and senile. His landscape business which was left to his two sons and which was operated by them and others for a while did have some further contact with Mr. Hurt but in the overall perspective their involvement and ultimate effect can only be considered miniscule and of no consequence with the future development of the area as a whole.

The nail-in-the-coffin which absolutely refutes Olmstead, Sr.'s involvement in Atlanta, Georgia can be found in the Emory University Woodruff Library in the Southeast American Studies Conference Report, Atlanta, Ga., written by (now) head of the Historical Section of the Georgia Dept. of Natural Resources, and who authored (or sanctioned) the so-called justification for the "historic" designation of Ponce De Leon Ave. and now, flushed with success, have submitted the request to include all of Druid Hills-----from page 7<sup>8</sup> of the report: "Fredrick Law Olmstead visited Atlanta (IN 1894) in Connection with the Cotton States Exposition and told Mr. Hurt he wanted nothing to do with his residential project." Unquote.

As one tax paying, law abiding citizen, and as a disabled veteran who served my country with honor in time of war, and as an 18 year resident of this great community, I have asked myself the question if the effort to prepare this letter will be worth it or will this forcefull and perhaps somewhat emotional reply be just another voice crying in the wind. It is my belief and sincere wish that my voice will be heard as I still believe in our system of government where our rights are still protected.

It is my belief that we have an extreemly important principal involved in this issue. This country was founded (in part) to insure our basic freedoms, particularly private property rights. If we stand by and allow our basic freedoms to be eroded through mechanisms and schemes such as this "historic" zoning ruse, then in the long run we as a society of God fearing Americans are all headed for trouble and will soon find ourselves living in a different America than the one we know today and still love. I have no quarrel with preserving our heritage which I feel we should do with zeal and vigor. Local zoning controls of Private property however is entirely another matter.

Sincerely Yours,

Edward F. Tamas

and the increasing competition with Hurt's street car company, the Kirkwood Land Co. chose to sell the 1482 acres, in 1908, to the Druid Hills Co., formed by Asa Griggs Candler and Forrest and George Adair. The half million dollar purchase was completed on May 19, 1908 and was to date the largest real estate transaction ever to take place in the city of Atlanta. Asa Candler became president and a director of the Druid Hills Co. with Forrest and George Adair acting as real estate brokers and Vice-president and Secretary-treasurer respectively. The Adair real estate firm was solely responsible for managing the sale of lots, owned by the Druid Hills Co., from 1908-1923. The effect of this unified sales control had a profound influence on the successful and harmonious development of the area.

In a letter to the Olmsted Brothers, dated October 8, 1908, Joel Hurt indicated that the Kirkwood Land Co. had sold their combined properties to the Druid Hills Co. and further stated that the new owners intended to carry out "in the main" the landscape design submitted by the Olmsted firm. The letter indirectly suggested that the planning and landscape service of the Olmsted firm was no longer required on the Druid Hills project, but that future plans for another development by Hurt outside of Atlanta might be possible in the future.

Before the discovery of the preliminary plan for Druid Hills in the Atlanta newspaper of 1896, there had been only written evidence of the Olmsted firm's involvement in the planning of streets and improvements north of Ponce de Leon Ave. However, the 1896 newspaper plan indicates that the Olmsted firm and most likely F.L. Olmsted, was involved in the planning of Springdale, Oakdale and Lullwater Roads, north to the By-Way as well as Clifton, East Lake, and Ridgecrest Rds. Prior to the discovery of the 1896 plan the only indication of the Olmsted firm's planning for Springdale, Oakdale and Lullwater Roads was the intersection placement for these roads on the 1905 detailed plans for the Ponce de Leon Ave. corridor by the Olmsted Brothers. Correspondence indicates that preliminary plans for the entire 1482 acres were considered in 1892. In March of 1894, Fredrick Olmsted advised Mr. Hurt by letter, not to dispose of lots before the character of the undertaking was well established by improvements, thus indicating the decision and possible preparation of a second preliminary plan for the entire area. In November, 1903, after the retirement of Fredrick Olmsted, John C. Olmsted was still suggesting that the lots in the area not be sold until a plan for the entire area had been agreed upon and the improvements were in place. John Olmsted further indicated that Hurt had requested their firm to proceed with the "general plan" for the property, including the naming of the entire development and the streets. It appears that preliminary placement for Springdale, Oakdale, Lullwater, Clifton, East Lake and Ridgecrest Roads were made by F.L. Olmsted or his sons between 1894 and 1896. The request by Hurt in 1903 for more specific plans came when the project was resumed, after recovery from the depression period of the late 1890's.

In the November letter of 1903, John Olmsted again mentions the covenant restrictions advised earlier by his step-father, to secure the future development

1 ARTICLE 6. HC: HISTORIC AND CULTURAL CONSERVATION DISTRICTS 1

2 Section 600. HC: HISTORIC AND CULTURAL CONSERVATION DISTRICTS, 2
3 GENERAL PROVISIONS 3

4
5 601. Intent Concerning the Creation of HC Districts 5

6 Within zoning districts now existing or hereafter created, it is 7 intended to permit creation of HC: Historic and Cultural Conservation Districts, 8 in general areas of substantial historic, architectural and/or cultural 9 significance, or for individual structures and premises designated as having 10 such significance. The designation of such districts is intended: 10

- 11 a) To foster civic beauty and to promote those qualities of the 11
12 environment which enhance the health, safety, prosperity, comfort, 12
13 and general welfare of the community; 13
14 b) To insure the harmonious, orderly and efficient growth and 14
15 development of the city; 15
16 c) To raise the level of community expectations for the quality of 16
17 its environment and awareness and preservation of its cultural 17
18 heritage; 18
19 d) To preserve the character and quality of the physical heritage of 19
20 the City of Atlanta by maintaining the integrity of those areas 20
21 and structures which have a discernible cultural, economic or 21
22 environmental character or are of special historic significance; 22
23 and 23
24 e) To perpetuate and use structures, sites and areas which are 24
25 unique and irreplaceable assets to the city and its neighborhoods. 25

26
27 601.1 Purposes of Regulations Relating to Such Districts 27

28 Regulations relating to such districts are further intended: 28

- 29 a) To protect against destruction of such area or structures, or 29
30 encroachment of structures and uses likely to have adverse effects 30
31 on their historic and/or cultural character; 31
32 b) To encourage uses which will lead to their continuance, conser- 32
33 vation and improvement in a manner appropriate to preservation 33
34 of the cultural and historic heritage of the City of Atlanta; 34
35 c) To prevent developments in the visual environs of such areas or 35 structures which would detract from their character; and

1 d) To assure that new or altered structures and uses within such 1
2 districts will preserve and enhance their character. 2

3 601.2 Urban Design Commission to Assist in Preparation and Administration
4 of Regulations 4

5 It is further the intent of these regulations that the Urban Design 5
6 Commission (which may hereafter be referred to as the "Commission") shall 6
7 consult with, advise and assist the Bureau of Planning in the preparation 7
8 of regulations for individual HC districts and studies related thereto, 8
9 and that the Bureau of Buildings and other affected agencies of the city 9
10 shall be assisted by the Commission in the administration of regulations 10
11 adopted. 11

12 602. Effect of Previous H-A Historic Atlanta District Regulations. 12

13 H-A Historic Atlanta District Regulations, as contained in Article 13
14 37.00 of the prior zoning ordinance, shall remain in effect as applied to the 14
15 areas to which applied under the terms thereof until such area is designated 15
16 an HC District, recommendations for which designation shall be prepared 16
17 in accordance with Section 604 as soon as practical after the passage of 17
18 this ordinance, provided however that where titles of officials or agencies 18
19 set forth in such prior zoning ordinance have been changed by the Charter of 19
20 the City of Atlanta which became effective in January, 1974, such titles 20
21 shall be construed to those of officials or agencies performing the same 21
22 duties under the new charter. 22

23 603. Effect of HC Designation. 23

24 Such HC districts and their designated transitional areas may 24
25 either: 25

26 a) Supplant districts or portions of districts existing at the 26
27 time of creation of a particular HC district, or 27

28 b) Have the effect of modifying requirements, regulations and 28
29 procedures applying in existing districts or districts here- 29
30 after created, and remaining after HC districts and their 30
31 designated transitional areas are superimposed, to the extent 31
32 indicated in the particular HC amendment. 32

33 604. Preparation of Ordinance for Specific HC districts. 33

34 Ordinance for specific HC districts shall be prepared by the Bureau 34
35 of Planning on its own initiative, on recommendation of the Urban Design 35
36 Commission, or at the direction of Council. Such ordinance shall be 36
37 prepared in consultation with, and with the advice and assistance of the 37
38 Urban Design Commission and with advice and assistance from historical 38
39 58 39

1 associations, neighborhood associations and other organizations or individuals
2 qualified by interest, training and experience in achieving the objectives set
3 forth. Each Ordinance for HC districts shall contain information as indicated 4 below concerning the areas, buildings and permises to be affected.

5
6 604.1. Proposed District Boundaries.

7 Proposed district boundaries shall in general be drawn to include 8 all appropriate properties reasonably contiguous within an area. Where 9 reasonably feasible in relation to the purpose of HC districts, boundaries
10 shall include frontage on both sides of streets, and divide the proposed 11 districts from other districts at rear lot lines, side street lines, or at 12 other points where divisions will create minimum inter-district frictions.
13 Internal boundaries may subdivide the district into subareas as appropriate 14 for regulatory purposes.

15
16 604.2. Proposed Boundaries for Transitional Areas

17 If the proposed H-C District is visually related to surrounding 18 areas in such a way that actions on the surrounding area might have 19 potentially adverse environmental influences on the H-C District, proposed 20 boundaries for such transitional areas shall be shown.

21
22 604.3. Detailed Regulations

23 The ordinance shall include proposed detailed regulations to be 24 applied within the district. Such regulations may be designed to supplant 25 or to modify any existing regulations, including regulations pertaining 26 to the use of land, buildings or structures within the H-C District, according 27 to Section 603. or its sub-areas, if any. Such regulations may require, for 28 a particular district, or its sub-areas, if any, certificates of appropriateness
29 in addition to those required at Section 606. below.

30
31 604.4. Report with Ordinance for HC District

32 A report shall be submitted with the Ordinance, establishing and 33 defining the historic, architectural and/or cultural character of the district, 34 setting forth the criteria upon which the designation of the district and 35 its boundaries are based, and describing the structures and features of sub-

1stantial public significance, present trends and conditions, and desirable 1
2public objectives for future conservation, development or redevelopment. Such 2
3report shall include among other matters. 5

4
5604.4.1. Inventory of Existing Conditions. 5

6 An analysis of existing structures by period of construction, 6
7special historic, architectural or cultural importance, architectural style, 7
8condition, present use, and other matters, relating to planning or regulating 8
9future development, such as existing zoning, locations on lots, location and 9
10dimensions of yards and other open spaces, access to interior of the block, 10
11and existing or potential off-street parking. An analysis shall also be 11
12made of lands not occupied by structures, including lands in and lands near 12
13visually related to the district, and lands which it is known are to become 13
14vacant. Included in this analysis as appropriate to the circumstances, of the 14
15case, shall be indications of public, quasi-public and private lands which 15
16are vacant or clearly to become vacant, with current uses, proposed uses (if 16 17known) and potential uses if proposed uses are not known. 17

18
19604.4.2 Recommendations Concerning Off-Site Parking: Grouped or Other. 19

20 It is the intent of these regulations to permit off-site parking in 20
21H-C Districts where required on-site parking is impracticable or would have 21
22adverse effects on the appearance of the property or the district, or would 22
23make impracticable economic use of structures to the extent required for their 23
24preservation and maintenance. It is also intended to encourage provision of 24
25such off-site parking in grouped facilities at appropriate locations which will 25
26be convenient and secure for users, reduce interference with pedestrian and 26
27vehicular traffic, facilities appropriate landscaping, buffering or other 27
28control of adverse visual effects, and make available for other purposes 28
29those areas of lots which would otherwise be required to provide driveways 29
30or parking space. 30

31 In its report to Council, the Bureau of Planning may recommend 31
32specific or general locations for such off-site or grouped parking facilities, 32
33and specific or general indications as to the portions of the district which 33
34might appropriately use such facilities to satisfy off-street parking require- 34
35ments. Recommendations may also be made as to means to assure that space in 35

1 such facilities is not alienated from the uses for which they are required. 1

2 Where such recommendations are made, they shall be implemented as 2
3 appropriated in proposed detailed recommendations for the district, provided 3
4 for at Section 604.3.4., below. 4

5
6 604.4.3. Plans for Public or Other Action. 6

7 Such report shall also include known plans for public or other 7
8 action in or adjoining the district and likely to affect its character. 8

9
10 605. Procedures for H-C Amendments and Variances. 10

11 605.1. Amendments 11

12 Applications for amendments, variances, special administrative 12
13 permits, special use permits, special exceptions shall be processed as such 13
14 applications generally as provided in this ordinance, provided, however, that 14
15 all such applications shall be submitted to the Urban Design Commission for 15
16 review before any final action on such application, and provided, however, 16
17 that no action resulting from such application shall have the effect of 17
18 eliminating the requirement for certificates of appropriateness as otherwise 18
19 provided in this Article. 19

20
21 605.2. Variances. 21

22 Regulations for individual H-C Districts shall not be subject to 22
23 variance except through the granting or denial of certificates of appropriateness 23
24 as specified in this Article. 24

25
26 606. Certificates of Appropriateness Generally Required. 26

27 In addition to other permits of certificates of appropriateness 27
28 required in individual HC districts, a certificate of appropriateness shall 28
29 be required for the following actions in all HC districts. 29

30
31 606.1. Changes in Exterior Appearance of Structures. 31

32 No structure within an HC district shall be altered in exterior 32
33 appearance except in accord with a certificate of appropriateness. For 33
34 purposes of this Article, the term structure includes walls, fences, signs, 34
35 light fixtures, steps, or appurtenant elements thereof, as well as buildings. 35

The term exterior appearance is limited to portions visible from public ways, 3

1 and includes architectural character, general composition and arrangement of
2 the exterior of the structure, and the color and texture of surfaces and type
3 and character of all windows, doors, embellishments, light fixtures, signs
4 and appurtenant elements.

5
6 606.2. Erection of New Structures and Additions to Existing Structures.

7 No new structure shall be erected within any HC district, nor shall 8 any addition be made to any existing structure, which is visible from a 9 public way, except in accord with a certificate of appropriateness.

10
11 606.3. Demolition or Moving of Structures.

12 No structure shall be demolished or moved, in whole or in part,
13 within an HC district other than in accord with a certificate of appropriate-14 ness unless otherwise specified in individual HC District Regulations.

15
16 606.4. Off-Street Parking for Three or More Vehicles, Visible from Public 17 Ways.

18 No off-street parking facilities in which three or more vehicles
19 will be visible from public ways shall be provided within any HC district 20 except in accord with a certificate of appropriateness.

21
22 607. Certificates of Appropriateness - Procedures

23 Where a certificate of appropriateness is required under the pro-
24 visions of Section 606, General Requirements for Certificates of Appropriateness 25 or the requirements of a particular HC district, the following procedures shall 26 govern:

27
28 607.1 Required Pre-Application Conferences.

29 Before application for certificates of appropriateness or building
30 or other permits requiring such certificates may be accepted:

31
32 607.1.1. Conference with Commission Official or Representative.

33 The prospective applicant shall confer with an Urban Design 34 Commission representative, designated by the Chairman of the Commission for 35 that purpose concerning the nature of the proposed action and requirements

1 related to it. The Urban Design Commission representative shall inform the 2 applicant as to officially adopted guides and standards of the Commission
3 bearing on the proposal.

4 The Urban Design Commission representative shall further advise 5 the prospective applicant of the nature and detail of plans, designs, photo-
6 graphs, reports or other exhibits required for determinations of the case
7 involved, and to be submitted with the application. Where such advice
8 involves prospective applications for certificates of appropriateness, it
9 shall not preclude the Commission from requiring additional material prior 10 to making its determinations in the case.

11

12 607.1.2 Conferences with Commission

13 Following the conference with the Urban Design Commission repre-
14 sentative, a pre-application conference shall be held with the Commission, 15 if required by the applicant.

16 The purposes of the pre-application conference with the Commission
17 shall be to discuss the proposal in light of general objectives of HC
18 Districts, particular objectives of the specific HC District, and design 19 standards applying.

20

21 607.1.3 Applications for Certificates of Appropriateness

22 Following the pre-application conference or conferences indicated 23 above, the applicant, if he desires to proceed, shall submit to the Urban 24 Design Commission, an application together with supporting exhibits required
25 in the case. No application shall be deemed to be filed until all supporting 26 materials have been provided, and fees paid.

27

28 607.2 Administrative Procedures on Certificates of Appropriateness.

29 607.2.1. Timing of Commission Meetings.

30 When an application for a certificate of appropriateness is received 31 in due form (as indicated at Section 607.1.4) by the Urban Design Commission, 32 the chairman of the Commission, or in his absence the acting chairman, who 33 shall within seven (7) days of such notification set a date for a meeting
34 of the Commission to consider the application, which shall be within 30 days 35 from the time the date was set, except where a longer period is established in writing, and by mutual agreement between the chairman, or in his absence the acting chairman, and the applicant.

1607.2.2 Public Hearings: Notice,

In all cases, notice of the time and place of the meeting shall be sent in writing to the applicant. Notice shall also be sent to such other parties as required by the rules of the Commission or these regulations. In particular, notice in writing shall be sent to all persons or organizations filing written requests for such notices generally and paying any fees established.

In any case, public hearings may be held, with such notice as is deemed appropriate, but general public hearings shall not be required except as specified in these general regulations applying to HC Districts, or in regulations for individual HC Districts.

607.2.3. Public Hearings: When Required

Where an application is for a certificate of appropriateness required in regulations for the HC District for demolition or moving of a structure or any portion thereof or for a variance to the HC regulations, the Commission shall hold a public hearing thereon, with notice, as provided in Section 607.2.2.

607.2.4 Meeting; Decision of Commission

The meeting shall be held at the time and place indicated in the notice. The decision of the Commission shall be made within 45 days of the receipt of the application for a certificate of appropriateness in due form, except where a longer period is agreed in writing by mutual agreement between the applicant and the Commission. Such agreement may be made at any time within the 45-day period indicated, and may subsequently be similarly extended.

The Commission shall keep accurate minutes of all meetings which shall include the vote, absence or abstention of each member upon each question, all official actions of the Commission and any examinations by the Commission. All such minutes shall be filed in the office of the Commission, and shall be public records.

The Commission may grant the certificate of appropriateness applied for, grant it with specified modifications and conditions, or deny it. The decision of the Commission shall be in writing, and shall include all findings of fact and reasons for the granting or denial of the certificate of appropriateness.

1607.2.5 Effect of Conditional Certificate

2 Where the Commission grants a certificate of appropriateness with 3 specified modifications and conditions, the applicant shall be bound thereby 4 in any action pursuant to such conditional certification.

607.2.6 Effect of Failure to Decide Within the Time Limit.

7 Failure of the Commission to act within time limits established
8 shall be deemed to be approval of the certificate, and upon request of the 9 applicant, the Building Official shall issue any permit dependent upon such 10 certification, if otherwise lawful, recording as authorization the provisions 11 of this paragraph.

1607.3 Appeals from Decision on Certificates of Appropriateness

1607.3.1. Who May Appeal

15 Any person aggrieved by any decision of the Commission, or any 16 officer, department, board or bureau affected by such decision, may appeal
17 from such decision to the Superior Court of Fulton County by filing with 18 the Clerk of said court a petition in writing setting forth plainly, fully 19 and distinctly wherein such decision is contrary to law. Such appeal shall 20 be filed within 30 days after decision of the Commission is rendered.

607.3.2. Notice to Commission

23 Upon such filing, the clerk of the court shall give immediate 24 notice thereof to the Secretary of the Commission. Within the time pre-25 scribed by law the Commission shall cause to be filed with said clerk a duly 26 certified copy of the proceedings had before the Commission, including a 27 transcript of the evidence heard before it, if any, the decision of the 28 Commission.

607.3.3. Judicial Procedure, Superior Court

31 Thereafter at the next term of the Superior Court, or in vacation
32 upon 10 days' notice to the parties, the judge of such court shall proceed 33 to hear and pass upon the appeal. In determining the questions presented by 34 the appeal, the Court shall determine whether the decision of the Commission 35 is correct as a matter of law.

1 Any party at interest who is aggrieved by the judgement rendered 1
2 by the Superior Court upon such appeal may have the same review by appeal in 2
3 the same manner as now provided by law for fast bills of exceptions to 5
4 other judgements, orders and decrees of the Superior Court. 4

5
6 608. Certificates of Appropriateness Matters to be Considered. 6

7 In making determinations concerning individual certificates of 7
8 appropriateness, the Commission shall be guided by the purposes of HC 8
9 regulations as set forth generally at Section 601.1., and as they may be 9
10 further defined in the regulations for the particular HC district, and by the 10
11 report establishing and defining the historic, architectural and/or cultural 11
12 character of the districts, described in Section 604.3. 12

13 In addition, unless contrary to the individual HC District regulations, 13
14 the Commission shall be guided by the following considerations: 14

15
16 608.1. Changes in Exterior Appearance of Structures; Erection of New 16
17 Structures, Additions to Structures. 17

18 Considerations on changes in exterior appearance of structures, 18
19 the erection of new structures or additions to structures shall include 19
20 general design, architectural character, scale, arrangement, texture, 20
21 materials, color, and relation of such elements to similar features of 21
22 structures in the immediate surroundings as related only to appearance from 22
23 public ways. The Commission shall not consider interior arrangement or 23
24 design, nor make requirements except for the purpose of preventing developments 24
25 not in harmony with the desired character of the area. 25

26 Among grounds for denying applications are character foreign to 26
27 the area, arresting and spectacular effects out of place in the location, 27
28 violent contrasts of materials or colors, multiplicity or incongruity of 28
29 details resulting in a displeasing appearance and absence of unity and 29
30 coherence in composition. In the case of repair, remodeling or enlargement 30
31 of an existing structure, denials may be based on lack of consonance with 31
32 the dignity and character of the existing structure. In the base of a new 32
33 building, denial may be based on incongruity with the prevailing character 33
34 of the neighborhood. 34

35

1 In denials or conditional approvals, the applicant may be provided 1
2 with illustrations and recommendations indicating appropriate design, arrange- 2
3 ment, texture, material, color and the like. 3
4

5 608.2. Demolition or Moving Structures. 5

6 608.2.1. Demolition 6

7 Considerations on proposed demolition of structures, in whole or 7
8 in part, shall include the circumstances and condition of the structure 8
9 in part and the feasibility of preservation. Action by the Commission in 9
10 this class of cases shall be as follows: 10

11

12 608.2.1.1 If Preservation is Infeasible 12

13 If preservation is found physically infeasible related to the 13
14 historic, architectural, and/or cultural value of the structure, the 14
15 certificate of appropriateness shall be granted, subject to conditions set 15
16 forth in Section 608.3 below, if appropriate, and any permits dependent 16
17 upon it may be issued if otherwise lawful. 17

18

19 608.2.1.2 If Preservation is Feasible. 19

20 If preservation is found physically feasible related to the 20
21 historic, architectural, and/or cultural value of the structure, the 21
22 Commission shall impress desirability of such preservation upon the applicant 22
23 and endeavor to persuade him to extend the time period allowable for the 23
24 making of its final decision, as provided in Section 607.2 to allow the 24
25 taking of action to lead to preservation on the site, or on another appropriate 25
26 site if it is feasible to move the structure. 26

27 If the applicant refuses to extend the time period allowable for 27
28 making the final decision, the Commission shall take one of the following 28
29 actions: 29

- 30 (a) Issue the certificate effective immediately, subject 30
31 to conditions and with effects as indicated in Section 31
32 608, or 32
33 (b) Issue the certificate with a deferred effective date 33
34 which shall not be more than one year from date of 34
35 issuance, or 35

1 (c) Deny the certificate, with written reasons for such 1
2 denial, including a statement of findings by the 2
3 Commission that preservation is found physically feasible. 3
4 to the historic, architectural, and/or cultural value of 4
5 the structure and an indication of uses to which the property 5
6 might be put and of possibilities of sale of the property 6
7 as a whole, or of rights therein including development rights 7
8 to be transferred. 8

9 Where the certificate is denied or issued with a deferred effective 9
10 date or when the applicant agrees to deferral of final action, to a certain 10
11 date, the Commission shall take or promote the taking of such action as seems 11
12 likely to lead to the preservation of the structure, on the site or on 12
13 another appropriate site if moving is feasible. 13

14 Such action may include dissemination of information concerning 14
15 the proposed demolition of the structure, with a description of its historic 15
16 architectural and/or cultural significance, to the Mayor, the Council, the 16
17 news media, private civic groups, and interested public citizens. It may 17
18 include investigation of the potential use of the power or eminent domain 18
19 by the City if the preservation of a given structure is of major historic 19
20 architectural and/or cultural significance and clearly in the interest of 20
21 the general welfare. It may include recommendations for extension of the 21
22 area within which development rights might normally be transferred under 22
23 the terms of Section 1214. 23

24 The Commission may also make or cause to be made detailed inves- 24
25 tigation as to the costs of preservation and remodeling, costs of moving, 25
26 and of a suitable site (if moving is feasible) and potential uses in keeping 26
27 with the character of the particular HC District which would be likely to 27
28 make continued preservation economically feasible. Where such uses are not 28
29 already permitted under the regulations for the particular HC District, 29
30 the Commission may recommend amendment of district regulations. 30

31

32

33

34

35

1608.2.2 Moving

2 Consideration on proposed moving of structure in whole or in part,
3 shall include the effect on the neighborhood from which the move is made.
4 In general, where the structure forms a significant part of a complex of 5 similarly meritorious buildings, preference shall be given to relocation on 6 a site elsewhere in the district. Where the structure does not form part 7 of such a complex, preference shall be given to removal to a location in 8 which the addition will re-enforce existing complexes of buildings of significant 9 historic, architectural, and/or cultural character.

10 Where the Commission finds that it is clearly in the interest of 11 the general welfare of the community to attempt to preserve a building in 12 its existing location, by reason of its relationship to other significant 13 buildings in a complex, it shall seek extension of time limits for its 14 final action or shall otherwise proceed as generally provided in Section 15 608.2.1.2 above to take or promote the taking of such action as is appropriate 16 to preserve the building in its existing location.

17

1808.3 Requirements Concerning Salvage; Preservation.

19 In connection with any certificate of appropriateness for demolition 20 of buildings of any class in an HC District, the Commission may require
21 salvage and preservation for reuse in restoration in the district or elsewhere
22 specified classes of building materials, architectural details and ornaments, 23 fixtures, and the like. In connection with any such certificate, for either 24 demolition or moving, the Commission may require the preservation of trees,
25 shrubs, and other landscaping of substantial significance in the character
26 of the district.

27

2808.4. Reduction of Existing Lot Size.

29 Considerations concerning applications to reduce dimensions of 30 existing lots, or combinations of lots, parcels or portions thereof in single 31 ownership at time or zoning to HC status shall include determinations as to 32 whether the ownership and development pattern in the vicinity, visually 33 related to the area of the proposal, is consistent with such reduction, and 34 whether proposed development on lots to be created (if known or obvious from 35 the dimensions of the proposed lots) will be consistent with the character of desirable development in the vicinity.

1 Where the proposal involves reduction of grounds surrounding a 1
2 building which is to be preserved on the premises, consideration shall 2
3 also be given to whether grounds remaining, and the location of remaining 3
4 open spaces surrounding the building, would be appropriate to its character. 4
5

6 608.5 Variances to H-C Regulations 6

7 The Commission shall have the power to hear and decide appeals for 7
8 such variances from the terms of this ordinance as well not be contrary to the 8
9 public interest when, due to special conditions, a literal enforcement 9
10 of its provisions in a particular case will result in unnecessary hardship, 10
11 provided that the spirit of the ordinance shall be observed, public welfare 11
12 and safety be secured, and substantial justice done. 12

13 Variances may be granted by the Commission only upon making all of the 13
14 following findings: 14

15 (1) There are extraordinary and exceptional conditions pertaining 15
16 to the particular piece of property in question because of its size, shape 16
17 or topography; 17

18 (2) The application of the Zoning Ordinance of the City of Atlanta 18
19 to this particular piece of property would create an unnecessary hardship; 19

20 (3) Such conditions are peculiar to the particular piece of 20
21 property involved; or 21

22 (4) Relief, if granted, would not cause substantial detriment 22
23 to the public good or impair the purposes and intent of the Zoning Ordinance 23
24 of the City of Atlanta; provided, however, that no variance may be granted 24
25 for a use of land or building or structure that is prohibited by the Zoning 25
26 Ordinance of the City of Atlanta. 26

27 The Commission may impose such conditions relating to the variance 27
28 appeal as it may deem necessary in the particular case to protect the public 28
29 interest. 29

30 When granted, a variance together with any conditions or safeguards 30
31 attached, shall apply to the land or use for which it was issued, and not to 31
32 a particular person. 32

33 An appeal for a variance may be withdrawn at any time, but if with- 33
34 drawn after the Commission has convened the public hearing at which it was to 34
35 be considered, or if denied by the Commission, substantially the same appeal 35 may not be considered within one year of withdrawal or denial..

1609. Special Administrative Provisions for HC Districts.

2609.1. Maintenance of Files: Inspection; Reports.

3 The Commission shall maintain files of all original certificates
4 of appropriateness together with copies of all pertinent exhibits and reports
5 of the Commission necessary for inspections and enforcement of the terms
6 thereof. The Commission shall, from time to time, inspect during actions
7 pursuant to such certification, and shall take all necessary and legal steps
8 to assure conformity to the requirements thereof. The Commission shall 9 further be diligent in HC Districts generally in taking corrective action 10 where work requiring such certification is undertaken without obtaining it.

11 The Building Official shall furnish the Commission with a monthly 12 report concerning HC Districts, number and nature of inspections made, and 13 violations on matters concerning the Commission with an indication of steps 14 taken to remedy such violations.

1609.2. Commission Files

17 The Commission shall maintain files concerning its findings and 18 determinations under this Article, including records of all applications 19 reviewed, exhibits and reports related thereto, and actions taken. Such 20 documents shall remain the property of the City, but be held in the custody
21 of the Commission.

2609.3 Transitional Areas

24 Any application for building permits, zoning amendments, special use
25 permits, special administrative permits, special exceptions, and variances 26 within a transitional area of an HC District shall be also submitted to the 27 Commission for review and report prior to any final action on such application.

2610. Maintenance and Repair Provision

3610.1 Commission Petition for Enforcement of Maintenance and Repair Provisions,

32 Where the Commission determines that buildings in HC Districts are 33 endangered by lack of maintenance and repair required by ordinances of the City, 34 or other buildings in visual proximity to the HC District; lack such maintenance 35 and repair to such an extent as to detracts from the desirable character of the neighborhood, it may petition appropriate officials or agencies of the City to require correction of such deficiencies.

610.2. Ordinary Maintenance and Repair; Actions Required for Health or Safety.

Nothing in this Article shall be construed as preventing ordinary maintenance or repair of any exterior elements of any structure so long as exterior appearance is maintained rather than changed. Nothing in this Article shall be construed to prevent construction, reconstruction, re-enforcement, alteration or demolition of any such exterior elements which any authorized public official shall certify as required for public health or safety.

Dear Mr. Harrington,

I do own some valuable property: 940 Springdale Road NE in Druid Hills. Since it was built by "the Candler's the Coca Cola magnets" it was well constructed in 1918. It seems that because of its interior beauty and architectural structure, every club in Atlanta would like to have a party here.

Since I am just a poor old "Amiac Citizen", I have not been able to spend any money to take care of the proper needs of my home. Only recently, I was forced to mend the roofing of the back part of the house. The front will soon be necessary.

I am very interested in your proposals helping to

P.S. Please excuse my rather personal letter regarding my home. My main question for writing is to find out how much rehabilitation money I could get from the government and what requirements there would be on my part from any angle.

I think Druid Hills is certainly a beautiful area for belonging to the National Register of Historic places.

restore the property. I could well spend the money again which I paid for the property. The house needs new wiring, probably plumbing, furnace piping and on and on, especially the beautiful tile porch on the north side (the roof there is in a desperate condition!)-

I do not understand the extent in what way I may be helped. I would like to have a better understanding. If I have to go to much expense at all, I can't go into further inquiries. I think it is wonderful that the government is willing to help poor widows like me. (It may be an answer to prayer)

Please let me know if anything to help our beautiful "Druid Hills" is available and how.

Thanking you so much for an early reply.

Dear Mr. Herrington:

I would like to urge you to list the Druid Hills District in the National Register. We live at 1925 Ponce de Leon Avenue, Atlanta, Georgia, 30307.

This is a beautiful section of Atlanta and it certainly merits preservation. Cities lose so much of their character when the older sections are replaced with modern buildings, and apartments and condominiums.

We will greatly appreciate your efforts in this matter.

Dear Sir:

In reply to your letter of August 21, 1979, we wish to be included in your program.

Our area was the site where a part of the Battle of Atlanta took place. Since we have lived here, we have found three Mini Balls and a military whistle.

We would be happy to hear from you about the advantage of the Tax Reform and concerning it, what is required of us, the tax payer.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Mr. Herrington:

My husband and I are strongly in favor of your designating "Druid Hills" as a historic district.

The historic character of the neighborhood is one of the reasons we purchased our home there and why we are spending our time and money to restore this old home.

As one of several "close-in" older Atlanta neighborhoods, Druid Hills illustrates a planned neighborhood, beautifully designed, and fortunately still intact. The area has not yet suffered the ravages of the wrecking ball or of major highway construction; it is, therefore, to be preserved rather than needing total restoration. Areas such as this in Georgia are always in danger, and at this time the threat of major highway construction is again here. Especially for these reasons, Druid Hills needs and deserves the protection of being designated a historic district.

We urge you to act favorably upon this nomination.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Herrington,

We feel that the selection of the Druid Hills area of Atlanta for recognition as a Historic District is an excellent choice. The area is a wonderful representation for not only the Atlanta area but the entire Southeast. We support this recognition and look forward to the final approval of this Druid Hills area as a Historic District.

Re: Druid Hills Hist. Dist.
1167 Oakdale Rd., N.E.
Atlanta, GA 30307

Dear Mr. Herrington:

Thanks very much for your communication of August 21. We recommend emphatically that Druid Hills be listed in the National Register of Historic Places.

Druid Hills is a highly unusual suburb. It is one of the few in the United States that has been developed from a definite plan -- and from a plan of singularly high quality. Accordingly, Druid Hills has a total design, a unified character, and remarkable beauty. Ponce de Leon Avenue by itself has the character of a park, with its side streets -- such as Lullwater, Oakdale, and Springdale Roads -- maintaining the same quality.

The over-all design was deliberately adapted from the work of Frederick Law Olmstead, America's greatest park and city planner. In addition, most of the houses were individually designed by architects sensitive to the coherence of the entire neighborhood; so the homes provide a uniqueness inseparable from unity. There are several examples of the architecture of both Reid and Schutze in the area. The result is a green and gracious suburb in immediate proximity to the city itself.

This arrangement has been widely and enthusiastically recognized. In the past, as today, civic leaders in metropolitan Atlanta often lived in Druid Hills, and all residents have had unusual civic pride and responsibility. Thus Druid Hills has maintained continuity and tradition; change has been introduced in ways to preserve and enhance the matchless character of our community.

Druid Hills is one of the best examples in America of suburban distinction and excellence. American culture and history have been enriched by its existence. The continuation of this enrichment will be more nearly assured by placing the district in the National Register of Historic Places.

Dear Mr. Herrington:

Thank you very much, indeed, for your letter of August 21, 1979 regarding the inclusion of the Druid Hills subdivision as a historical district. I am sure that many homeowners in our area will agree with me that this area, which was one of the earliest subdivisions to be established in Atlanta, should be preserved.

One of the items not covered by the information supplied to us is the matter of resale of the property. While we do agree that our house and the whole community should be listed in the Federal Register as a historic landmark worthy of preservation, my wife and I are somewhat concerned about the potential effects of our reselling our property in the future. What prohibitions, if any, will your office impose upon us?

Our house is located at the following address:

Re: Druid Hills District

Dear Mr. Herrington,

It is most encouraging and gratifying to know that Druid Hills is being considered for listing in the National Register.

This home which I bought in 1975, was built for Bishop Candler in 1912. And is one of the oldest homes in the neighborhood. At the time I acquired it - much to the consternation of my family - the house had been divided into four apartments. It was in such a state of neglect that there was an injunction against it by the civic association and was on the verge of being condemned by the city as a fire hazard. One was unable to see the house from the street for the kudzu!

Needless to say, most of my time, money and energy for the past few years have been spent in restoring this house back into a single family residence - just as it was originally - even to all the antique furnishings. It has been at long last a most fulfilling labor of love and I have no intention of leaving it other than in a box or an urn.

It is now a joy to show my home with all ages and all kinds of groups - christenings, graduation parties, weddings, retirement parties - all kinds of people have been most appreciative of the quality of the craftsmanship and energy efficient designs of these old homes. We have no air conditioning and still use steam heat and six fireplaces. In the last few years most of our new neighbors have been energetic young couples with young children. It is exciting to live in a neighborhood reminiscent of my childhood in a small town where everyone is concerned and involved.

For these reasons I feel it to be not merely important but imperative that our government make a sincere effort to assist us to preserve landmarks of our past culture and history for all Americans. In so doing, may it not only revive the cities but restore a real sense of community in the neighborhoods. We will be hopefully and enthusiastically awaiting the approval.

Sincerely
Marianne J. Williams

Dear Mr. Herrington:

We are wholeheartedly in favor of listing the Druid Hills District in the National Register of Historic Places. The area can make a contribution to the history of Atlanta and of the South. The book, Oakdale Road, Its History and Its People, published in 1972, is one example of the interest shown in this District.

Dear Mr. Herrington:

Thank you for your information concerning the possibility of my property being included in the listing of the National Register of Historic Places. I am living in the DRUID HILLS HIST. DIST. at 1761 Ponce de Leon Avenue, N.E., Atlanta, Georgia 30307.

The Druid Hills Area has played a prominent part in the tradition, history and development of Atlanta. A number of years ago it was named as one of the ten best residential areas in the United States and was given national magazine coverage at that time. The grand old mansions, together with many of the smaller dwellings, share unique individual architectural designs symbolizing the distinct flavor of the era in which they were constructed. The heritage of the Druid Hills area is being revived as younger families are moving in from the suburbs and painstakingly restoring many of these fine houses to their earlier charm. Distinct banners are displayed on these houses undergoing restoration as a symbol of dedication to this renovation effort. Annual tours of houses in the Druid Hills area consistently draw large groups of visitors who thoroughly enjoy the architecture and nostalgia of by-gone years.

This spirit of rejuvenation, coupled with the sustained maintenance efforts of many of the old-time residents, combine to preserve and restore this neighborhood so distinct and steeped in the growth of Atlanta. Inclusion of the Druid Hills area in the National Register of Historic Places would not only preserve the beauty and historic value of what now stands but would encourage still further expenditures of private time and resources to preserve this area as part of our national heritage. Your assistance in making this possible will be truly appreciated.

Sincerely,

Norman R. Harbaugh

Druid Hills is a Beautiful area with many well preserved older homes with excellent architecture, Beautiful wooded areas sprinkled with many Dogwood Trees and well maintained lawns.

Principal listings open to the Public in the Druid Hills area are as follows.

Dear Mr. Herrington,

Thank you for your letter advising me that my home, as part of the above Druid Hills District, is being considered for the National Register of Historic Places.

All of us here couldn't be more pleased with this action. Considering that Atlanta had a late start <sup>to</sup> <sup>grow</sup> with National History, it doesn't make sense to discard beauty and historical sites so quickly to become barren business throwaways — We believe in progress but NOT with the sacrifice of our useful, productive and valued contribution to the city scene.

I feel that the Druid Hills area is an oasis of serene and elegant beauty in the busy everyday world that adds to the Atlanta scene. Why else do they drive the V.I.P. scenic buses to show us off to the visiting dignitaries and convention crowds? Many fine and beautiful homes of the founding fathers of Atlanta are standing vacant at the whim of their owners to be torn down. It is the hope of one analysis committee to establish a "Consulate Row" in an effort to preserve these large historic mansions. I'm sure your decision should further their efforts. I couldn't think of a better facet to this lovely jewel.

many thanks for giving me this opportunity to express just a bit of my opinions.

Sincerely,

Joanne B. Devico (Mrs. M.)

RE: Nomination of Druid Hills
District as a Historic Place

Dear Mr. Herrington:

This letter is written in support of the nomination of the Druid Hills District to be confirmed for the Registry of Historical Places in Atlanta.

This area, among other things, has developed not only as a residential but as an institutional region, each complimenting the other. Emory University, the U.S. Public Health Communicable Disease Center, the Fernbank Science Center which incorporates some 70 to 80 acres of primeval forest, the Cerebral Palsy School for the Afflicted, Callenwolde, the magnificent home of one of the Coca Cola Candles which has been converted into and maintained by the Parks Commission of DeKalb County, and a full champion-size golf course known as the Druid Hills Golf Club are located within the confines of this proposed district.

The homes in this area are unique in that at the time of their construction, all were well planned, custom constructed and placed upon grounds varying in size from 1/2 to 10 acres or more, rendering a permanent urban atmosphere desirable for a stable productive populace. This quality can be more effectively perpetuated by features of historic designation.

It is noteworthy to be reminded that the planning for Druid Hills was provided by Frederic Law Olmstead's office, that talented man of the late 1800's who, among many other things, converted the swamp in New York City into what is now known as Central Park, and who planned the grounds of the Biltmore House in Asheville, North Carolina - considered the most picturesque of famous American castles.

Thanking you for your efforts and participation in this designation, I am

Yours truly,

Dear Sir:

First, I must say we are sorry to be so tardy in answering your letter but have been traveling the past month.

Yes, we are interested in your project. The Druid Hills District in Atlanta, Georgia, is still one of beauty and culture. It has an abundance of natural beauty with its native trees and flowers plus its lovely homes of half a century ago. Another asset that makes Druid Hills most desirable is Emory University.

If our home is chosen can we still continue to live in? Can we ever sell our home?

You could send us a copy of the Standards for old buildings.

Would also appreciate any information pertinent to our situation.

Sincerely,

Mr. Charles A. Herrington
Acting Keeper of the National Register
United States Department of the Interior
Heritage Conservation and Recreation Service
Washington, D.C. 20240

My dear Mr. Herrington,

I am writing you in Re:
Druid Hills Hist. Dist. and giving my comments why this district should be listed in the National Register of Historic Places

I am writing in particular re:

Karl H. + Sara A. Wingard
0524 Ridgcrest Rd. N.E.
Atlanta, Ga. 30307

and giving characteristics of this property, my home, which meet the Criteria Section C of your letter of August 21, 1979.

As a district, Druid Hills belong to a unique group of home sections in our nation recognized for desirability because of its natural beauty (trees, parks and greenery still preserved) substantial homes, and permanency and worth of its residents. It is an example of a garden-type home subdivision planned and built during the first part of this century, and which is still a home section (occupied by only second owners in many instances) only a few miles from the inner-city. The homes meet Criteria A + B, for they were built and occupied by industrial, religious and educational leaders of this region and often visited by persons of national significance.

To drive through the Hill District is to drive through the pages of history, through an era unique in the life of our nation - an era of "happy and "growing" years - prior to the <sup>3</sup> year of the '30's Depression and the '40's World War II. Despite these decades, the homes and buildings were <sup>and are still</sup> maintained in integrity, and the spirit of culture and dignity perpetuated by its residents.

The homes and settings of
B Druid Hills District represent a "Golden Age" of our country. They are counterparts of mansions and homes pictured in the famous films preserved now from "The Golden Age of Hollywood", but rarely preserved nor seen now in actuality.

Our home, 0524 Ridgecrest Rd. N.E.
Atlanta, Ga, 30307 meets Criteria
in the following ways:

- Architectural style is Italian villa, popular during and typical of the era (built 1924).
- Cream brick exterior, two-story,
12 room home
- Pink marble floors terrace + porch.

- Leaded glass in 12 pane windows.
- Bas-relief panels decorating entrance frieze and windows.
- Front columns consisting of fluted round shaft, cornice, frieze, capital and base.
- Parquet oak flooring
- nine foot ceiling
- cyma recta molding
- French doors (arched French doors to arched stair well)
- Large stair landing
- Italian bas-relief mantel piece, six feet by five and a half feet. (This mantel was one of two in Druid Hills. It was recently photographed for a hand made reproduction ~~and~~ placed in a W. Paces Ferry Road mansion.)
- Sun (or morning) room on east side of house
- Ceramic tile baths, pedestal wash basins with porcelain faucet handles.
- Walk-in pantry (equipped with original two-eye gas burner)
- Back porch
- Breakfast room (separate room) with

- plate rails, built-in corner cabinets and built-in wall length, glass-paned dish cabinet.
- Spacious rooms; basement, attic
- Heated efficiently by a Standard steam heat system. Covered radiators have no pop-off valves, for each radiator has its return pipe to furnace.
- yard features a "rock garden", popular in the '20's; original Japanese magnolias and crepe myrtles (25-30 feet high) a giant cedar deodora, large camellias and azaleas. Also dogwoods and magnolias.
- Six entrances to house
- Tiffany chandelier

Thanking you for your correspondence,

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Herrington:

We recently acquired a home on Briarcliff Road in the Druid Hills area of Atlanta.

Druid Hills is an integral part of the Emory University community with beautiful old houses built according to style and size established by the Candler Family, the developer of the area.

We plan to rehabilitate our house in accordance with the old design and we strongly urge you to support the acceptance of Druid Hills into the National Register.

Dear Mr. Henington,

We were delighted and Upon receiving a map

we found that Callan Wolke was not included. Nor, were several other homes of interest in that proximity.

It is located to the west

there a possibility that it could be included with

Enclosed please find eight representative photographs of intrusive apartment buildings and ranch houses in the Druid Hills historic district. We hope that these photographs adequately convey to you the character and appearance of such contemporary structures - a character and appearance that words alone are apparently unable to express.

We are looking forward to the speedy registration of Druid Hills. You would not believe the reaction to the news that the nomination is being held up for want of a photograph of a ranch house.

Dear Mr. Herrington:

Druid Hills is a unique residential area in the city of Atlanta because of the splendid architecture of the homes, the elegant parks of Frederick Law Olmstead, and historical significance of the area as a residential area accessible to the downtown business district.

The lives of those who planned and developed Druid Hills are intimately associated with the growth and greatness of the city of Atlanta.

The greatest classical architect in the United States, Mr. Philip Shutze, designed many of the homes in Druid Hills, and these homes will contribute to the aesthetic enjoyment and appreciation of the residents of Druid Hills and countless others who walk or ride through the area.

I am also in favor of maintaining and restoring the accessory buildings on the large lots in Druid Hills because they were built to harmonize with the main house. Preservation of accessory buildings will also provide additional housing for those who appreciate a historic area which is very near to downtown Atlanta and accessible to rail and bus lines.

I strongly support the listing of Druid Hills as a historic district on the National Register of Historic Places.

Very sincerely yours,

They own a # of properties, donated in the past 15 years. Plan to develop a museum of national history - homes have been deteriorating over the years - are converted to storage bldg classrooms.

They are a non-profit corp. So, TRA does not affect them. I explained that, + also, the

Dear Mr. Herrington:

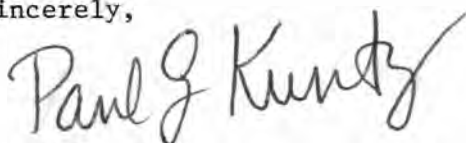

I strongly support the listing of Druid Hills as an historic district.

My personal reasons are that, having lived in many places (Philadelphia, Main Line Haverford, Cambridge, Mass., Dennis, Cape Cod, Northampton, Mass., Knoxville, Tenn., Grinnell, Iowa,) Druid Hills seemed to me the finest residential district I had ever come to know.

It is the finest objectively because of the excellent planning of F. L. Olmsted. The lanes fit the contours of the hills, follow the streams generally, and poise a cluster of generous houses between shopping districts and main lines of public transportation. The situation is ideal, and might easily be destroyed.

Therefore, accept my congratulations on your splendid efforts.

FEB 2 1984

Honorable William B. Clark
Secretary of the Interior
Washington, DC 20240

REF: Proposed Presidential Parkway, Atlanta, Georgia

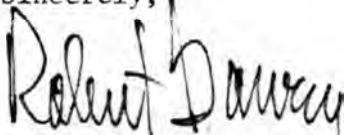

Dear Mr. Secretary:

In accordance with Section 800.6(b)(7) of the Council's regulations, the Chairman has been advised that the consulting parties have been unable to reach a Memorandum of Agreement for the referenced project. It has been determined that this undertaking, for which the Federal Highway Administration proposes to provide funding assistance, will adversely affect the Druid Hills Historic District, the Candler Park Historic District, the Martin Luther King Historic District, the Moreland Historic District, and the North Highland/North Avenue Historic District, and will indirectly affect the Inman Park Historic District. All of these properties are included in or eligible for the National Register of Historic Places. We recommended that the matter be considered by the Council, and the Chairman has determined that this course of action is appropriate. A meeting of the full Council has therefore been scheduled on February 27 and 28, 1984, in Atlanta. The exact time and location of the meeting will be determined soon.

Under the Council's regulations, the Secretary of the Interior is asked to provide a report for consideration by the Council. Section 800.13 (c)(1) specifies that the report should include "a verification of the legal and historical status ... and an assessment of the historical, architectural, archeological, or cultural significance" of the properties affected by the undertaking. We have been in contact with Ms. Carol Dubie of the National Park Service, whose office we understand will be responsible for these preparations. We have requested of Ms. Dubie that the report be furnished to the Council by February 14, 1984.

This report is a very important contribution to the Council's deliberations, and I wish to thank you and your staff in advance for your thoughtful assistance. Should questions arise, please contact Don L. Klima or Ronald D. Anzalone at 786-0505.

Sincerely,

Significance and Description of the Properties

1. Druid Hills Historic District. The Druid Hills Historic District listed in the National Register on October 25, 1979, included within its boundaries the Druid Hills Park and Parkways, a smaller district listed on April 11, 1975. The 1300 acre residential district includes: Ponce de Leon, a major divided parkway with a series of median parks; suburban residential streets aligned to follow the natural contours of the land; and several small parks. House lots vary in size and are naturally landscaped. Residential architecture illustrates various turn-of-the century eclectic and revival styles including Italian Renaissance, Spanish Villa, English Tudor, Jacobean, Georgian, Federal and Neoclassical. The Druid Hills Parks and Parkways nomination was limited to Ponce de Leon Avenue and the grand mansions bordering it. That listing was expanded in 1979 to include the entire planned development.

The Druid Hills Historic District was listed under criteria A, B, and C; its recommended level of significance was "national." Druid Hills is significant as the finest example of late 19th and early 20th century comprehensive suburban planning and development in the Atlanta area, and one of the finest period suburbs in the Southeastern United States. The Druid Hills development was planned in the 1890s by Frederick Law Olmsted and his successors, the Olmsted Brothers, and is their only work in Atlanta and one of a few in the Southeast. Druid Hills is a good example of Olmsted's principles and practices regarding suburban development and its planning, landscaping, and residential architecture are of unusually high quality. The Ponce de Leon parkway and residential streets conform to the topography, creating the informal natural setting and picturesque vistas of late 19th century landscape planning; the parkway, with its separated vehicular and trolley lanes, was intended to link the subdivision to the city. As the second major metropolitan suburban development in Atlanta, Druid Hills influenced the direction of future suburban development in Atlanta, shifting the course of development from south of the city to the east and northeast. Druid Hills is also significant for its associations with many individuals prominent in commerce, politics, and culture in early 20th century Atlanta.

2. Candler Park Historic District. Candler Park was listed in the National Register on September 8, 1983. The district is a 450 acre residential area with streets laid out in a grid pattern. It contains a variety of single family and apartment structures as well as Candler Park, a major city park dating from the 1920s.

The district was listed under criteria A, B, and C. Candler Park is an example of a late 19th century residential neighborhood that evolved from Edgewood, an independent community east of Atlanta to a streetcar suburb, illustrating the suburbanization of the metropolitan Atlanta area during the late 19th and early 20th centuries. The district contains significant residential architecture including several large late-Victorian houses with fine detailing, late Victorian cottages and Bungalow and Craftsman style houses as well as churches, stores, apartment buildings, and a school. The grid layout contrasts with the picturesque landscaping of Inman Park and Druid Hills, other contemporary suburbs.

3. Inman Park Historic District. Inman Park was listed in the National Register July 23, 1973. Inman Park is a residential district of rolling terrain, curving streets, and 1890-1910 period houses in a variety of styles.

Inman Park was listed under criteria A, B, and C. Inman Park is significant as Atlanta's first planned suburb. Developed by Joel Hurt, one of the city's most important early builders, Inman Park helped determine, along with Druid Hills, the direction of suburban growth. The district's residences were designed by outstanding architects of the period and were occupied by individuals prominent in the social, economic, and cultural life of the city. It is the only district remaining in the city with a large concentration of major High Victorian residences and contains examples of the Queen Anne, Colonial and Classical Revival styles.

4. Atkins Park Historic District. Atkins Park was listed in the National Register on August 30, 1982. The subdivision, which occupies three parallel streets, consists of one and two story single family detached brick, frame, and stucco houses on informally landscaped lots.

The district meets criteria A, B, and C. The area was listed for its associations with the suburban development of Atlanta between 1912 and 1920 and with various individuals important in the business life of the city at the period. Predominant architectural styles include Bungalow, Georgian Revival, Spanish Mission, Tudor Revival, and Prairie.

5. Martin Luther King, Jr. National Historic Site and Preservation District. The National Historic Site and Preservation District, authorized by Congress on October 10, 1980, is an inclusive designation that encompasses the following previously recognized areas:

- a. The Martin Luther King, Jr. Historic District, listed in the National Register on May 2, 1974. Part of this area, including the King Birthplace, Ebenezer Baptist Church and King gravesite was designated the Martin Luther King, Jr. National Historic Landmark on May 5, 1977.
- c. The Sweet Auburn National Historic Landmark, designated on December 8, 1976.

The Martin Luther King, Jr., National Historic Site and Preservation District is composed of several elements along the axis of Auburn Avenue: commercial and institutional buildings that served the area's black population, the historic black neighborhood of frame residences to the east, and the Martin Luther King, Jr. Memorial linking the commercial and residential areas. The designated area contains the Martin Luther King, Jr. Birthplace, the Ebenezer Baptist Church, the headquarters of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference and the King gravesite. These properties and their setting are of primary significance in interpreting Martin Luther King, Jr.'s life and work until his death in 1968.

In addition to its national significance for association with Dr. King, the area possesses other significance in black history. The Sweet Auburn National Historic Landmark was designated for its historic associations as a major center of black social, cultural, and commercial activities in the 1890-1930 period. The Martin Luther King, Jr. Historic District is also of local significance as the historic black neighborhood that developed adjacent to the Auburn Avenue commercial area (see additional discussion of this area, below).

The following properties have been determined to be eligible for inclusion in the National Register in Atlanta in the area of the project.

Moreland Historic District, determined to be eligible November 28, 1983. The Moreland District was developed between the 1890s and 1930s and contains representative examples of Victorian, Classical and Colonial Revival, Bungalow, and Craftsman styles.

Architecturally, the Moreland District is most significant for its concentration of late Victorian architecture, one of the last remaining collections of these buildings in a neighborhood setting. The area also contains the work of Atlanta architect Willis Denny, a well known architect of the period. The district illustrates the range of residential architectural styles popular from the Victorian period through the 1930s. Like Inman Park and Druid Hills, the Moreland District documents the beginning of the shift in residential development to the east and northeast of the central business district.

North Highland Avenue Historic District, determined to be eligible November 28, 1983. The North Highland Avenue Historic District developed between 1910 and 1928 and is predominantly composed of one story bungalow type brick and frame houses with Craftsman and classical details.

The North Highland Avenue Historic District is architecturally significant as an intact neighborhood of bungalow and period cottages in an intact historic setting. The neighborhood typifies housing of middle class families on the 1920s and 1930s.

The following property is considered by the State Historic Preservation Officer and Department of Transportation to be eligible for inclusion in the National Register of Historic Places.

Martin Luther King, Jr. Historic District, Extended. The extension to the residential historic district that is considered eligible is located between the current district boundary and the freeway right-of-way and is a contiguous area of vernacular one story frame cottages of the same character as the properties in the listed district. Research has documented that this area was historically part of the black neighborhood that developed between 1890 and 1930 in the vicinity of Auburn Avenue. Structures in the extension are associated with prominent black citizens, including politicians and members of the clergy.

THEY'RE REZONING DRUID HILLS TUESDAY NIGHT

The rezoning of the lot at 1219 Clifton Road, near the intersection of North Decatur and Clifton Road, will come before the DeKalb County Board of Commissioners this coming Tuesday night, Sept. 25, at 7:30 p.m. It will be in the DeKalb County Courthouse auditorium.

The developers propose to jam eight houses onto one lot at this dangerous turn on Clifton Road. We strongly oppose their application as a violation of the principle of the Druid Hills Plan and community. What they seek grossly violates the "one house, one lot" principle that has preserved Druid Hills through the years as one of the fine communities in this nation. If these developers are successful Tuesday, the precedent the commissioners' decision sets can affect the future of Druid Hills as we know it.

What can you do? First of all, attend the Commission meeting Tuesday night. Nothing is more important! We badly need more people than attended the Planning Board meeting. This is the vote that counts! Bring everyone you can. Carpool and encourage your neighbors to come. Be there early. (We may be moved to the top of the agenda.)

Should you contact your commissioners? Yes, but only as an additional expression of your objection to this proposal. They ask for your vote. You can ask for theirs in this matter. Write a simple note, letter or postcard if you like. Tell them you're against this rezoning. But if you do write, do it soon. Tuesday is not far off. Ask friends to write to their commissioners. If you do write, you have four commissioners: Chairman Walt Russell, Liane Levetan (Druid Hills), Brince H. Manning, III., and Garry R. Moon. Remember, these are your elected officials--and your voice counts.

Rest Haven Built in 1918, Still Stands

Asa G. Candler, the soft drink tycoon, had five children — four sons and a daughter.

Second in a weekly series on the old Candler homes.

and all of them, including Mr. Candler, had handsome show-place homes in the Druid Hills section of the city.

Only two of the homes, long vacated by the Candler clan, can be called homes in the true sense of the word at the present time.

ONE, LULLWATER HOUSE, described and pictured in this section last Sunday, was the estate of the late Walter Candler. It is now owned by Emory University for the official residence of the president. It is now occupied by the current president, Dr. Sanford Atwood and his family.

The other home, still a residence, was begun in 1918 by the late William Candler, the youngest of the five Candler children. It still stands at 940 Springdale Road and is the home of Mrs. Charles D. Elyea.

It is built of yellow brick, the same type used to build the home of Mr. Candler's father, Asa Candler on Ponce de Leon Ave. When the latter bought brick and marble for his home, enough was bought for his son to build his home on Springdale Road while he and his wife were living on Moreland Ave.

The granite foundations for the home were blocks from the Governor's Mansion which at that time was on Peachtree Street where the Henry Grady Hotel stands. The governor, Hugh Dorsey, was a friend of Mr. Candler and when the mansion was being torn down the blocks were sent out to Springdale Road. Mr. Dorsey was the state's 62nd governor and served from 1917 to 1921.

The William Candler named their home Rest Haven. At the time it was built it sat as a majestic castle amid 21 acres. The lot extended to the Byway where there was a side driveway to the estate which led to the lake on the property. The lake was one of the scenic spots in the city and Mr. Candler and his wife, now Mrs. Howell Hanson, ordered swans from Washington, D.C. to glide across the waters luring passing traffic to stop, stare and admire.

Nearby were the stables and picnic grounds. Now, six houses have been built on the property. But still standing is the big garage and the hot-house, a portion of the picnic grounds and the pool and the formal gardens.

WHEN THE CANDLERS lived at the house, there was a tea house in the formal garden where the former Mrs. Candler entertained at afternoon teas and sometimes al fresco luncheons and buffet suppers. The property was, and still is, a riot of color during the seasonal bloomings of camellias, pecan, crabapple and apple trees. Dogwood trees add their spot of beauty during the spring season.

Mrs. Hanson and her late husband built their home to include six bedrooms and baths including four bedrooms in the attic, a large living room, music room, dining room, (it was 18x24 feet and the scene of many seated dinners) kitchen, butlers pantry, breakfast room and sun parlor. The central stairway extends to the attic, the center being topped with a skylight window.

Both music lovers, Mrs. Hanson and the late Mr. Candler, entertained many concerts there and it was not unusual for a renowned artist or opera singer to give an informal concert at the home. Mrs. Hanson, a talented musician, played the organ for Sunday services at the Inman Park Methodist Church. Giving church parties was high on the social agenda for the couple.

Likewise, other social affairs were almost on an around-the-clock schedule at Rest Haven. Mr. Candler at one time was board chairman of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and editor of its publication, Nation's Business. In these positions he and his wife entertained VIPs from throughout the United States at luncheons and dinners.

Other leaders in many walks of life were guests of the Atlantans. One was Woodrow Wilson. The Atlantans visited him in the White House when he was president.

"I remember one time we had chicken sandwiches," recalled Mrs. Hanson. "They were delicious. When we came back home, whenever we served any of our guests chicken sandwiches we called them The White House Specials. They were also specials at the Billmore Hotel."

In great demand as a speaker, Mr. Candler spoke from a prepared text by none other than his wife. She recalled:

"I would go to the lectures and just before he would begin talking I would signal him by a brief raising of my hand so he would know I was there. After the speech, William always told the audience that his friend who wrote the Haven, Mrs. Elyea, bought house from the late Mr. B. in 1964. The house (interior) just about the same as the Candler's built it. The changes include the conversion of the old breakfast room into a library and TV room. The old butler's pantry is the breakfast room. Kitchen door was removed, replaced by an arch which gives a more freeway appearance. The solid cherry table in the breakfast room below Mrs. Elyea's parents, in its original state has leaves. There is a leaf built-in wall seat.

IN THE DINING room, furniture is imported Italian walnut. The tall backed chairs are upholstered in red velvet. There is an Italian marble buffet. There is a grand piano in the music room. In the living room which one enters from the front door, are Victorian love seats and a marble top table, a pier mirror and a fine carved mantel. (There is a fireplace in every room in the house). Walls cream colored, the woodwork is white and there is gold to wall carpeting and gold brocade draperies. eye-catching feature in drawing room is a large portrait of Maj. and Mrs. I. Franklin, of Franklin, Tenn. grandparents of Mrs. Elyea.

speech was in the audience and he wanted everybody to meet her. Then he would point to me."

THEIR ONLY DAUGHTER, Rena, now Mrs. William Chambers, was born at Rest Haven. She also made her debut there at an afternoon reception given by her mother. In the evening, the young set gathered at the Piedmont Driving Club for a dance in her honor. She was a member of the Atlanta Debutante Club.

The only son of the family, also born at Rest Haven, was the late William Candler Jr., he had a 42,000-acre ranch in Florida where his wife, three sons and a daughter now live. It was in 1923 that Mr. Candler invested over six million dollars to aid the Bowman Hotel group to build the Atlanta Biltmore Hotel which opened in April, 1923. It is now the Sheraton Biltmore.

The present owner of Rest

Tradition is being carried so to speak, for the Candler gathered many members of St. Mark Methodist Church various affairs. Mrs. Elyea conducts Bible classes every day (over 150 can be seen downstairs) and currently J. C. Arwood teaches on Thursday. Mrs. Elyea's pupils also give concert at the big house. The place is usually wired for sound — there are chimes and burglar alarms for the house and garage apartments though the owner does not alone.

Her children who enjoy visiting the big house are Charles D. Elyea Jr., of Concord, N.C.; Mrs. John Ward, Mrs. H. E. McKenzies Mansfield. The latter is presently one of the 10 Georgia Women of the Year representing her community. The three mentioned are great-grandchildren of John C. who was mayor of Atlanta 1850's.

Another feature on a Candler home will appear next Sunday in the women section of THE ATLANTA JOURNAL-CONSTITUTION.
