Baltimore, Maryland: Summer 2018

Already published for Philadelphia, New York, and Boston, these interactive online guides identify and describe nationally significant landscapes and designers. Comprising landscape profiles for more than 50 sites each, the guides expand upon the work in TCLF's What's Out There database, providing background on the NPS's role in urban landscape stewardship and including essays on various themes (e.g. nature preservation, urban renewal) and national programs (e.g. Land and Water Conservation Fund, Historic American Buildings Survey).
